Russian Forces In New Advance Toward Baltic

Huge New Offensive Tears
90-Mile Gap In Nazi De-

OTHER SOVIET DRIVES PROGRESS

BULLETIN
NEW YORK, July 13.—(INS)—The Russians "have moved up long range guns to shell the German border defenses, now little more than 30 miles ahead," the British radio said today in a broadcast heard by CBS.

MOSCOW, July 13.—Russian forces surged toward German-occupied Latvia and the Baltic Sea today in a great new offensive that has torn a 90-mile gap in enemy defense lines, registered gains up to 30 miles and overrun more than 1,000 towns and villages.

In its first 48 hours, the new drive, which began Tuesday, resulted in the death of some 7,000 German soldiers and the capture of approximately 1,500 prisoners and the seizure of 100 guns, 150 mortars and 5,000 machine-guns.

Among the initial objectives taken was the rail junction city of Idreita, 25 miles from the Latvian border, described by Marshal Joseph Stalin as "an important strategic point of the German defense." The Soviet leader ordered a 20-salvo salute fired by Moscow's 224 big guns in honor of the event.

"Corn roast" season must be in the offing. Pa Newc notes that numerous such social events are being scheduled for the not too distant future here.

Highland school yard is being given a coat of "blacktop," apparently in an effort to beat the mud nuisance during bad weather.

Work is progressing steadily on the erection of the new office building for the Johnson Bronze company on South Mill street.

"Share the ride" is apparently fast passing. Nothing cars passing the corner of Mill and Washington streets, headed north, during a brief period on Wednesday afternoon. Pa Newc noted about thirty out of forty cars had only one person riding, that being the driver.

Some touching up is being given the landscaping at the huge North Hill honor roll, located at Laurel boulevard and Highland avenue.

The torrid spell appears to have been broken, as a result of the rains of last night. The showers were of inestimable value to local gardens.

Down at Joseph's Market, a potato was found in a shipment, which bore a remarkable resemblance to the facial characteristics of Adolph Hitler, and with a little touching up, the resemblance was very pronounced. "The only difference between the potato and Hitler is that the potato is not rotten," one wag who viewed the result, exclaimed.

John Grunwald of New Bedford called up Pa Newc stating that he believes the bronzing of the hands of the clock in the tower of the First Christian church, on the Diamond, defeats the purpose, as it reduces the value of the clock.

While politics occupies the top spot in Washington news, the capital is also looking to the Pacific for new action. United States forces are now forging the Island of Saipan into the last major link in a chain of bases that gives American sea-air domination over the entire Pacific. Guam, Tinian and Rota are believed next on the invasion schedule.

Government experts meanwhile are turning to the task of implementing the new agreement with Mexico announced last night by Secretary of State Hull and Mexican Foreign Minister Padilla. Essentially, it is a task of releasing materials for shipment to Mexico to relieve a desperate shortage of transportation equipment to develop a new industrialization program for the future.

From Rep. Sol Bloom (D) N. Y., comes a suggestion that OPA try a new "psychological" approach to combating "black markets" by simply changing the name to "thieves' market."

Soviet Troops Only 35 Miles From Prussia

LONDON, July 13.—The German Baltic line is menaced or broken along almost its entire length, according to Reuter dispatches from Moscow today which said that Soviet tanks had penetrated to within 35 miles of the German frontier in East Prussia.

The Germans at the same time admitted a new retreat by Hitler's forces on the northern sector of the Russian front.

"A German disengaging movement on the northern sector of the Russian front has begun," the DNB agency said.

Various German divisions were said by DNB to have retreated from the Pskov-Ostrov area near the frontiers of Estonia and Latvia.

Finnish radio broadcast, heard by U. S. government monitors, said that Nazi occupation authorities had instructed all Estonian males between 19 and 25 in the Tallinn district who previously had been deferred to report for military service by July 17.

Washington Roundup

(International News Service)

Political opinion in Washington today is that it will be President Roosevelt and Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, on the 1944 Democratic national ticket. Mr. Roosevelt is expected to issue a statement expressing his personal desire to see Vice-President Wallace renominated but Barkley is emerging as a strong favorite for nomination by the Democratic convention at Chicago next week.

A fight will be made at the convention to restore the rule requiring a two-thirds majority to nominate a presidential candidate. Sen. Chavez (D) N.M., predicts that many small western states will join with Southern Democrats who already have announced a campaign to restore the two-thirds rule.

While politics occupies the top spot in Washington news, the capital is also looking to the Pacific for new action. United States forces are now forging the Island of Saipan into the last major link in a chain of bases that gives American sea-air domination over the entire Pacific. Birthplace Of Nazism Again Bomber Target

Munich Smashed For Third Successive Day By Allied Airmen

PROBABLY 1,000 PLANES ATTACK

By JOSEPH THOMAS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 13.—Heavyweight United States bombers battered the German city of Munich, birthplace of Nazism, for the third consecutive day today, the Nazi agency DNB reported.

The German agency admitted that "considerable damage" was inflicted on the Bavarian industrial and rail center.

The American daylight assault was reported upon the return to England of heavy British night bombers against flying bomb installations and key rail points in France.

The air ministry said that Lancasters and Halifaxes, operating in great strength, had attacked the rail centers of Tourn and Culmont-Chalindrey.

Unofficial estimates place the total of attacking British planes at upward of 1,000.

Robot Bombers Resume

Robot bomb raids against southern England were resumed by the Germans in daylight today after a night in which all England enjoyed a respite from the "buzz bomb" assaults for the first time in 28 days.

The ministry of home security said that there was no German air activity over Britain during the night. It was the third straight night that Londoners had escaped robot bombing.

Allied fighter planes went into the air to combat the pilotless missiles as they were sent over England again today. A number of the robots were destroyed over the English countryside.

Berlin, in reporting the new raid on Munich which was hammered by 1,200 heavy American bombers yesterday and another strong force on Tuesday, said that residential quarters of the city were attacked this morning.

Lajatico Taken By Fifth Army

(By International News Service)

ROME, July 13.—Allied Fifth Army troops, forging ahead against desperate German resistance, have captured the town of Lajatico, 20 miles east southeast of the Tyrrhenian port of Livorno (Leghorn), taking between 150 and 200 prisoners, Allied Mediterranean headquarters announced today.

The Germans, it was disclosed, are maintaining their stubborn opposition to the Allies across the entire front without any signs of weakening.

Heavy and medium Allied bombers last night attacked the rail yards at Brescia in Lombardy on the heels of successful daylight blows against railway installations in southern France.

Jap Forces In Suicidal Move In Wewak Area

Desperate Japanese Forces
Seek To Break Out Of
New Guinea Trap

PROBABLY 45,000 OF ENEMY CUT OFF

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S Hq., New Guinea, July 13.—Hunger and disease-ridden remnants of the Japanese 18th army, estimated at some 45,000 men, launched a desperate, suicidal attempt to break out of a trap in the Wewak region of New Guinea, where they have been isolated since last April, headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

The first skirmishes in what appears to be a planned Jap push toward American lines to Aitape, some 75 miles to the west, took place Tuesday night.

Originally the enemy army, which is commanded by Gen. Hatazo Adachi, had an official strength of 60,000 officers and men. But constant bombing during the past four months, plus starvation and disease, are believed to have wiped out about 15,000 of them and of the remaining 45,000 many are probably unfit for combat.

Completely Cut Off

The Jap forces have been completely cut off from possible reinforcements or supplies by American advances through Dutch New Guinea and the seizure of vital enemy bases in the Bismarck Archipelago. Long ago Gen. MacArthur said they were doomed to annihilation or surrender.

Meanwhile, the eastern perimeter of American positions at Aitape has been extended to the Drinimur river, 21 miles to the east, and it is in this area that the first large-scale action of the forthcoming battle is expected.

Even should part of the Japanese forces succeed in breaking through at Aitape, they would face at least another 125 miles of rough jungle before reaching overwhelming American forces at Hollandia.

The opening enemy maneuvers were greeted by aerial attacks from Allied heavy attack planes and

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—President Roosevelt today named D. Basil O'Connor, of New York, his one time law partner, as chairman of the American Red Cross succeeding the late Norman H. Davis.

In naming O'Connor to head the great American relief organization, Mr. Roosevelt described him as "admirably qualified for this position."

O'Connor for some years has served as president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The president's appointment is for the term expiring December 11, 1944.

Davis, who was the president's roving ambassador in the crucial years prior to outbreak of World War II died July 2. The president and O'Connor were law partners in New York before Mr. Roosevelt was elected governor of the empire state.

Iron Ring Now Being Tightened Around Germans

Acting Secretary Of War
Says Enemy Faced With Manpower Shortage

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Acting Secretary of War Robert Patterson today declared that the Allied ground and air forces are tightening an iron ring around the Germans and that the enemy now is faced with a manpower shortage.

"The best result of the past week of military action in Europe is the iron ring of Allied ground and air forces tightening and constricting the Germans," Patterson said at his weekly news conference.

"In Russia, Normandy and Italy, the Nazi armies, fighting bitterly all the time, have been pushed back. Their reserves are being diminished."

Nazis Losing Heavily

On the Italian front, the acting secretary said that the Germans are losing a large number of men in attempts to prevent Allied armies from reaching the Pisa-Rimini line.

"And there is no doubt that the enemy is faced with a manpower shortage," Patterson continued. "For example a German order now several months old, decreed a 20 per cent reduction in strength of rear echelon of combat units; a 25 per cent reduction of strength of all supply units; the immediate replacement of replacements of 1914 class and younger men from rear echelon and supply units; and preparations for transfer with replacements of soldiers of 1906 to 1913 classes from rear echelon and supply units."

Patterson said that to obtain

SHOWERS CHECK LONG DRY SPELL

Prolonged Drouth In Local Area
Broken By Rains Which Fall Here Wednesday

Showers, which started falling Wednesday morning, and continued intermittently throughout the day checked the drouth which has gripped the local district for more than a month.

Some sections seemed to benefit more than others, but all are agreed that the rain was worth thousands of dollars to farmers and gardeners, who have been praying for rain for the past two weeks. In the immediate vicinity, the area south and west of the city reported the most rain, but at the U. S. Weather Observing Station at the Water Plant only .18 of an inch was recorded on the government rain gauges.

Gardeners in that section, who visited their gardens last evening reported that the rain did not seem to have penetrated the ground more than half an inch.

Lawns, which have turned brown where not watered, began to show signs of perking up a little today and indications pointed to more showers.

An inch of rainfall was recorded at the Allegheny county airport.

SAIPAN BATTLE CASUALTIES HIGH

By RICHARD V. HALLER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PEARL HARBOR, July 13.—Mighty United States naval-air power concentrated in the Pacific still virtually unscathed after the Battle of Saipan and numerous strikes against Japanese island bases, prepared today to uncoil further devastating blows on the gray Nipponese.

In his latest communique on the vast fleet operations, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced that Guam Island, southernmost of the Marianas group, was pounded for the seventh consecutive day Monday by carrier aircraft.

Week of Attacks

The seventh aerial assault launched by a swift carrier task force, rounded out a week of attacks against enemy installations on the former American Island possession.

During those seven days, light surface units of the fleet moved in close enough to lob shells into shore facilities for two days running, indicating that Guam's defenses have suffered heavily.

Rommel Making Supreme Effort To Check Allies

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LA HAYE DU PUIT, July 12.—(Delayed)—Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel is tossing everything into the ring in an effort to check the overpowering Allied striking power in the Cherbourg peninsula area.

As the crisis approaches, the fighting reflects the mounting ferocity on both sides. No holds are barred.

Momentarily the front lines are deadlocked, seesawing back and forth, but we are more than holding our own and steadily pressing the Nazis back despite the fact that they are dug in like concealed rats and, above the ground, leapfrog backwards from hedge to hedge and tree-patch to tree-patch like snarling jungle apes.

Outlook Bad For Germany

The Luftwaffe shows only hapazardly in the night-time, with daybreak intensifying the wearing battle of "invisibles."

Prisoners with hands clasped overhead like apes are a most familiar sight, particularly 18-year-olds and some obviously 16, such as Franz Golz, who lived 40 miles out of Berlin.

Golz said he heard among his companions that the war outlook is pretty bad for Germany.

Another, Ulka Bernhardt, 22, said he hoped he would be sent to a United States prison camp.

Occasionally an arrogant young Nazi fanatic spouts hatred or keeps silent, but most of the prisoners admit the terrific effect of American artillery and say they are glad to be out of the war.

Airmen Report German Armor Is Driven Back

Early Collapse Of German Resistance At St. Lo Is Indicated

NAZI FORCES ARE BADLY BATTERED

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

Early collapse of German resistance at St. Lo, clinching American hold on the entire Cherbourg peninsula and clearing the way for an eventual joint Allied drive from the Caen sector down the west-east road to Evreux and Paris was indicated in dispatches from the Norman battlefront today.

Reconnaissance pilots returning to their bases in England after photographic missions over the combat lines revealed that the Nazis already have withdrawn their armor and artillery from the town of Lessay, at the terminus of the main road leading out of St. Lo and are depending upon their infantry alone to stem the continuing American advance in that sector.

During the five weeks of bitter fighting since Allied forces landed upon the shores of Europe, St. Lo has been the most strenuously defended key point in France.

Important Base

Controlling the main road leading from Caumont to the sea, St. Lo in the early stages of the invasion was the Nazis' trump card. Had it not been for the fact that Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British and Canadian forces at Caen tied down huge numbers of German troops, the Nazis might have been able to launch a counter-offensive from St. Lo which conceivably could have thrown the Americans back into the sea.

But the magnificent long-range planning of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower of British and Canadian troops at Caen, the day necessarily threw the Germans on the defensive both there and on the Cher-

War Bond Quota Nearly Reached

Like a bashful youngster hesitating about getting up onto the platform, Lawrence County's Fifth War Loan total was hesitating today. It wasn't over and yet it was close, you could reach out from a prone position and touch it. But it wasn't actually over. The total reported at noon was $6,989,562.75 which is mighty close to $7,010,000. Friday should see the quota met and perhaps passed.

In the meantime there are still a lot of "E" and "G" bonds you can pick up at bargain prices. You can get a nice fresh $25 bond for $18.75 with a guarantee of full payment in ten years. Or if you feel a little dough heavy you can get any number of $100 bonds for $75 each. They're bargains anyway you look at it. And it will push the total up over quota.

Have you bundled up those papers in the attic, have you bundled up those papers in the hall, get them out and tie them neatly and they'll be gone completely, when the trucker and his helpers start to call. They'll be round to pick them up. Let's hope there's plenty, need for paper now is quite severe, they need the stuff in industry and army, right now we need the papers over here. So bundle up those papers you've been saving, you should be good for ten pounds or for more, the paper's needed badly, that's for sure, the weather's cool and down to eight-four.

Offer Reward For Union Twp. Vandals

Honor Roll Committee Offers $50 For Information Leading To Apprehension Of Culprits

As the result of discovery of further damage to the Union township honor roll, the sum of $50 has been presented to the honor roll committee, to be offered as a reward for the apprehension of the party which took the floodlights used on the honor roll, or for information which will lead to the discovery of anyone causing damage to the honor roll.

Members of the committee have found that someone has scored the glass on the front of the honor roll, probably done by a diamond ring, and may have been done thoughtlessly.

However, those interested in the honor roll have become thoroughly aroused over the acts of vandalism and hope to catch those responsible or any others who might cause damage in the future.

NEW HOSPITAL IS OPENED AT ELLWOOD CITY

Pershing street in Forest Hills, a section of Ellwood City located upon an eminence overlooking the city. The hospital has 32 beds and is equipped with the most modern equipment possible to obtain. It opens its doors to the public free and clear of any encumbrances.

Dr. H. E. Helling, a practitioner of long standing in this county, was the chairman of the dedication. Such a hospital has long been the dream of Dr. Helling and in the past two years he has aided the advancement of this idea and the selection of Dr. Helling as chairman was in excellent taste.

Program
Raising the flag and dedication of flag pole—American Legion Post, Ellwood City.

Star Spangled Banner—Monaca Cornet band.

Invocation—Rev. F. H. Dauben-speck, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church.

America—Assembly
Introductory remarks and introduction of honored guests—Dr. H. E. Helling, chairman.

Selection—Pittsburgh Kiwanis club
quartet.

Acceptance of the hospital—Dr. C. Z. Bell, president, Ellwood City Hospital Association.

Selection—Pittsburgh Kiwanis club
quartet.

Remarks—Miss Mary B. Miller, administrator, Ellwood City Hospital.

Address of congratulations—Dr. H. R. Sumner, president, Ellwood City Medical staff.

Selection—Pittsburgh Kiwanis club
quartet.

Remarks—Mrs. J. Ellis Bell, president, Ellwood City Hospital Auxiliary.

Address—Colonel L. C. Trimble, vice president of State Hospitals Association.

Selection—Pittsburgh Kiwanis club
quartet.

Benediction—Rev. Fr. Francis E. Paul, St. Agatha church.

Many Inspect Building
During the afternoon hundreds of citizens visited the new hospital and inspected it. The modern equipment, the utilitarian construction of the building and the taste in which it is decorated drew the pleased commendation of the crowd.

One organization, recently formed but already active, is the Ellwood City Hospital Women's Auxiliary, which in two months has achieved goals beyond what might have been expected.

Eventually the Mary Evans maternity unit will be joined by medical and surgical units. When that day arrives, the present general hospital will be abandoned and all hospital work concentrated on what will then be a complete hospital in Forest Hills.

the towns of Agaña, Umatac and Agat on Guam's western shore and smashed Japanese held Orate point.

Rota Also Hit
Jap-held Rota Island, about midway between Guam and captured Saipan, also was revisited Monday for the fourth time within eight days by rocket-firing carrier planes and bombers.

Hits were scored on Rota's air-drome runways, from which the Jap air force failed to send a single plane into the air to challenge the American raiders.

A lone twin-engine enemy bomber encountered in the vicinity of Rota was shot out of the sky. Ground fire from the target area was described as moderate.

Softening-up Process
Constancy of the attacks on Guam and Rota suggested that the enemy strongholds were undergoing a softening-up treatment preparatory to invasion.

Meanwhile, Admiral Nimitz reported that the victorious American forces on Saipan so far have captured 1,000 enemy troops and have interned more than 9,000 Japanese civilians, a record bag in the Pacific conflict.

Enemy dead buried by the Americans reached a total of 11,948 with other uncounted thousands of Jap Japs still awaiting burial. Approximately 95 per cent of Japan's Saipan garrison, estimated to have numbered more than 20,000, died in the futile defense of the island.

(Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal announced in Washington that American casualties on Saipan were 2,359 killed, 11,481 wounded and 1,213 missing.)

SOVIET TROOPS ONLY 35 MILES FROM PRUSSIA

Wilno, were reported gaining ground rapidly and guns were said to be bombing from positions only 25 miles east of the city.

Dispatches from Moscow quoted by Reuters said that the Germans on the Latvian front were on the verge of disorganization as the Soviets pressed on behind a curtain of roaring steel.

German torch squads were said to be wiping out Soviet villages in the path of their retreat. Only gallowes were reported left standing when the Red army burst into the village of Kudeve. Two men and a woman not long dead were dangling from the gallows, bearing placards which said:

"I am waiting for the Reds to come."

A Moscow radio report said that the German garrison at Wilno, railway gateway to Lithuania, is "approaching a state of coma."

"The men would be willing to lay down their arms and surrender," Moscow said, "but the German command is trying by every means to induce them to carry on."

Nazi parachutists dropped by transport planes in an effort to bolster the Wilno garrison were said to have been wiped out completely.

fighter-bombers in which another 35 tons of bombs were dropped on Jap positions in the Wewak and Yaka areas. Allied air and naval patrols also damaged several enemy barges along the coast.

Heavy Bombings
In Dutch New Guinea, some 500 miles west of the Wewak sector, Allied Liberator bombers, completing the neutralization of the Babo airbase in MacCleur gulf, unloaded 33 tons of explosives on the Revetment areas, kindling a number of fires.

Simultaneously havoc bombers blasted the adjacent Kokas township, destroying fuel supplies and gun defenses and heavily damaging building installations. Night air patrols hit the Sagan airbase.

North of MacCleur gulf, in Grel-vink bay, other Allied night patrols pounded Jap supply areas at Man-okwari, Warren and Moemi, as well as enemy barge routes and Jap island farther to the south.

Two Japanese planes bombed the American-held Kamari airbase on Noemfoor island during the night, causing slight damage.

Liberator bombers again struck at Jap airbases on Palau and Woleai in the western Carolines, while medium and light bombers dropped 105 tons of bombs on enemy supply and defense installations at the much-battered base of Rabaul, New Britain.

manpower to keep open roads behind the German lines in Italy the enemy has ordered "ruthless exploitation of civilian population for labor service."

Hard Task Ahead
Patterson said that current Allied tactics of closing in on the enemy are encouraging for the future but he warned that our task of forging ahead against "an efficient enemy organization remains a hard one."

The acting secretary said the guerrilla warfare in France has greatly aided the Allies by impeding enemy communications, while in China Patterson said there has been a turn for the better with the Japanese withdrawal from Hengyang.

During the period from May 29 to July 5, the acting secretary said the 14th U. S. Air Force killed or wounded over 14,700 Japanese and destroyed 18 enemy planes and damaged 28 others. This air force also destroyed six gun boats, 29 steamers, 829 sampans, 32 bridges, 26 storehouses, 817 cars and trucks and killed over 1,700 horses, in addition 132,000 tons of shipping was sunk or damaged.

B. P. W. CLUB HAS PICNIC AT COTTAGE

Members of the Business & Professional Women's club met Wednesday evening at the Rae Muirhead cottage, Lakewood, for an enjoyable picnic dinner followed by a short business meeting and a social time.

Places were set for 34 at a long table on the porch. Miss Eleanor Smith, Mrs. Martha Smith, Miss Emily Rice, Mrs. Pearl Johnson, Miss Theodora Pollock, and Miss Helen D. White were the committee in charge. Mrs. Sara Sankey McCune, Miss Helen Meyer, and Miss Dorothy Young aided the committee.

During business, over which Miss Florence Davis presided, announcement was made that the club delegate to the biennial convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs starting Friday and continuing through next Friday at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City will be Miss Mary Scherger.

A letter was read from Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry through whose generosity the club acquired the Rae Muirhead cottage, which was opened as a club property in 1931.

Reservations for the cottage are in charge of Mrs. Martha Smith.

On August 9, the club will again have a picnic meeting. Miss Erma Eckert is chairman.

EAGLES AUXILIARY PLAN PICNIC EVENT

At the annual picnic outing planned by the Fraternal Order of the Eagles Auxiliary, to be held in the grove of Cascade park on July 20 at 6:30 o'clock, guest patients of Deshon hospital, Butler, will be entertained as special guests. The auxiliary will also have on this date their families.

President Mrs. Arline Patterson presided over the meeting held in the Eagles hall on Tuesday night, when plans for the occasion on July 20 were completed. Mrs. Alvin Herberg, chairman, will be assisted in addition to the social committee, by the following: Mrs. Jessie Stenger, Mrs. Harry Buckley, Mrs. William Eckert and Mrs. Howard Hunter. On this date each family will take a luncheon and sufficient picnic supplies for each. Those planning to attend are asked to notify Mrs. Alvin Herberg.

Another outing is also planned for El Rio Beach on August 18 for all Eagles Auxiliary members and friends. Special entertainment has been provided featuring Slim Carter and other artists. The entire beach has been reserved for the Eagles on this occasion which will be an all day outing beginning at 3 p. m. and lasting until midnight.

During the business routine, Mrs. Patterson appointed in her visiting committee the following: Chairman Mrs. Howard Hunter, Mrs. William Semler and Mrs. Harry Buckley. It was also announced there will be an important practice for both the drill and military teams on Tuesday, July 18, at the Eagles hall, conducted by Capt. Mrs. Frances Johnston. The regular auxiliary meeting is slated for August 1.

An informal social time completed activities and refreshments were served by the committee in charge: Mrs. Henry Navarra, Mrs. C. M. Patterson, Mrs. Samuel Jackson and Mrs. Alvin Herberg.

A MESSAGE TO MOTHERS ABOUT THE FLETCHER'S CASTORIA NOW ON SALE

ON EACH BOTTLE of the Fletcher's Castoria you buy today, you will see a Serial Control Number.

This number is plainly visible through a "window" in the package.

Here's what the Serial Control Number means to you:

The Fletcher's Castoria now being made is given three different kinds of rigid tests... chemical, bacteriological, and biological. The Serial Control Number on each bottle is your positive, visible proof that all these tests have been made.

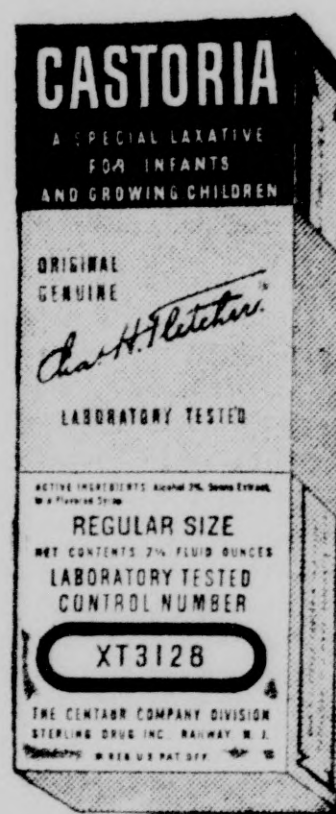

In this way, you have full assurance of the quality and dependability of Fletcher's Castoria—long recognized as the ideal laxative for children.

Millions of mothers welcome the news that Fletcher's Castoria is now on sale at their druggists. This is the original and genuine Fletcher's Castoria... the laxative made especially for children.

The next time your child needs a laxative, ask for Fletcher's Castoria. It's mild and gentle, yet effective. And it's pleasant-tasting, so you don't have to "force" your child to take it.

THE MAKERS OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Look for these features on the new Fletcher's Castoria package:

1. The Green Band... around each package... quickly identifies the laboratory-tested Fletcher's Castoria now on sale.

2. The Serial Control Number... on the bottle label... is clearly visible through a "window" in the outside package.

NOTE: Until sufficient stocks can be made available, it may be that your druggist won't have enough Fletcher's Castoria to meet all demands. If he happens to be out of stock when you ask for Fletcher's Castoria, please be patient. He will have it for you shortly.

Crucial Days Are Here

From all fronts comes word that the war of attrition is proceeding apace with every discharge of a gun and a torpedo and every release of a bomb making the end more certain. Nazi leaders admit that the odds against them are frightening and to uphold German morale are resorting to almost daily promises that the war will yet be won by some unannounced means. The Japanese are in a similar mental state, although their curious psychology is not so easily interpreted.

The planes in the air, the ships at sea, the weapons and the power on the land and most vital of raw materials are steadily shrinking in Axis hands. The sands of the glass are running out and there is nothing the Axis nations can do about it as the overwhelming power of the Allies increases steadily.

They may stand staunch for a time along a line or on an island. If so, they are weakened for the next encounter. And always the Allies keep pressing forward with an immovable persistence that turns the red blood of courage to water and the stout heart to fluttering fear. Every morning sun brings to the Axis warlords another day of dread, a haunting fear that at some vital area failing hands no longer will be able to grasp the gun and the fatal break-through will occur. The crucial days are here and ever more irresistibly the waves of vengeance beat upon the Axis hordes.

Write That Letter Today

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower's comment that the famous general "keeps his ear cocked for mail too" bring up again that subject of mail from home.

Alike to a general with the cares and responsibility of gigantic military operations on his hands, and a G. I. Joe hazing his life, the morale-building power of a letter from father or mother, sister, brother, wife or sweetheart—or anyone dear to him—is beyond computation.

It's a reminder: if you haven't written lately, get a letter off today. He's waiting for it.

Uncle Sam Pays Off

The other day Uncle Sam made a payment on a debt incurred 150 years ago. In amount it was trifling compared to present-day obligations. With start of the fiscal year the Treasury department dug down into its capacious moneybags for the cost of exactly one and fifty-two hundredths yards of carefully selected percale for each of 5,200 New York Indians. This is the price paid each year since 1794 for the friendship of these original Americans.

To the Choctaw tribe, under an agreement made in 1825, goes a payment of $600 to pay for the services of a blacksmith to shoe the Indians' horses. There is an additional allotment of $320 for steel and iron for the job. The Choctaws also draw $600 a year, and have since 1855, for the maintenance of a corps of light horsemen.

Firepower Superiority

A year ago the National Zeitung of Essen said:

"The enemy must win the war, whereas we need only not to lose it." This remark is interesting in view of the statement of Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, that "Allied firepower in every category is at least four times greater than that of the Germans in the current fighting in Europe. The importance of this fact cannot be over-emphasized. It is firepower that wins wars."

Mr. Patterson says that America and Britain have built up a preponderance of firepower in everything from small arms and grenades to heavy artillery, airplane bombs and rockets. This superiority, he says, brings encouragement to Allied troops. He adds:

"Nothing is so heartening to soldiers as to be backed up by superior artillery fire and superior air cover. And nothing will be as disheartening to the Germans as to see themselves so heavily outmatched in firepower on the field of battle. We will continue to give our troops these enormous quantities of metal and explosives to throw at our enemies, both on the continent and in the Pacific."

The National Zeitung, in asserting that "the enemy must win the war, whereas we need only not to lose it," apparently did not realize that the Allies could build up a superiority of four to one in firepower in so short a period of time.

How not to lose a war when there is this handicap is the problem for the Nazi leaders to solve.

Nazi Prisoners' Strike

It couldn't happen in Nazi Germany, but it has happened here. The Army has announced that when 70 German war prisoners went on strike at Utica, New York, they were given the privilege of five minutes' consultation among themselves and then—when they unanimously refused to alter their stand—they were sentenced to confinement up to 30 days with a bread and water diet for 14 days. They were not shot down for their Nazi insubordination, as they would have been had they been Allied prisoners of the Axis.

These 70 Nazi prisoners, sheltered in former factory buildings, took offense when they were not allowed to remain outside in a stockade until after dark. They had been brought to Utica to work in pea fields. They demanded to remain outside until 10 p. m., when ordered in at 9:30 p. m., and refused on the following day to board buses for the fields. Col. John F. Dave, commander of District 3, Second Service Command, explained that he ordered the disciplinary measure when they all refused to reconsider their attitude.

Where these German prisoners came from in the European battle zone, what grim encounters they may have had with tank warfare in Russia or what intense fighting they may have experienced against the Allies in Italy or France, is not unfolded. It might be thought that to be privileged to come to America to work in a peaceful countryside—far from the maddening Nazi crows' ignoble strike—would have seemed a heavenly release for them, accepted without any qualification.

Anyhow, the German mind is so accustomed to discipline that it is hard to understand why it should have backfired over a trifle in this instance—particular in view of how summarily these Nazis themselves would have dealt with Allied prisoners in any case of insubordination.

The obtuseness of Nazi prisoners in this country is now an old story. They cannot be persuaded to believe—or believe in—anything contrary to their rigorously impressed opinions. The alternative in this case was fairly mild compulsion. Perhaps in that very mildness they may yet be moved to learn something about the civilized world they have sworn to destroy. But odds are against it.

Ration points have been restored on lamb. Didn't they thrive on that ivy diet.

Washington Calling

Fourth Term Plans

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The masterly finesse developed through twelve years in the White House was evident from the moment President Roosevelt tipped back in his chair and, chuckling, directed Steve Early to lock the doors in his big oval office.

He didn't want anyone to get hurt in the rush, he said, still in the same bantering tone. As he began to read in a quiet, unemotional voice, he paused to light a cigarette. It should be a murmur, the President quipped, recalling the once familiar ad about being nonchalant under any and all circumstances.

This master politician knew full well the dramatic impact of what he was doing. And while most of us in the hot, still room had guessed with the first reference to locked doors what was coming, it was nevertheless not robbed of its effect.

As forecast in this column three weeks ago, the President made his declaration in response to notification by Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the Democratic National committee, that "more than a clear majority" of the delegates to the convention in Chicago were already legally bound to vote for FDR for a fourth term. The plan was first suggested by Hannegan who believed that prior announcement would obviate some of the awkward embarrassment that hung heavily over the 40 convales.

Deviates From Scheme
An important respect, however, the President deviated from the scheme suggested by Hannegan. He made no mention whatsoever of the Republican candidate or of the Republican platform. Hannegan had asked him to pitch his response partly at least on the attitude taken by the Republicans toward both foreign and domestic policies of the Roosevelt administration.

The President preferred to follow the strategy of the last two campaigns, in which not once did he mention his opponent by name. This time he is likely to follow the same pattern, with the absent treatment even more apparent.

Of course, his statement was no real surprise. Little room has been left for doubt, during the past three months, that he would submit to another "draft." In recent weeks he has talked frankly with Hannegan about the nature of the campaign, stressing his reluctance to leave Washington for any speech-making tour, however brief.

Adoption of Hannegan's plan, and especially the finesse with which it was carried out, give Hannegan a good score in the first inning of the ball game. If he also succeeds in sidetracking Henry Wallace with out too much bloodshed at Chicago, then his most serious worries will be out of the way. As a professional politician, Hannegan is interested in winning and he has apparently convinced Roosevelt that it will be easier to win without the traveler who has just returned from the Shangri-La he discovered in East Asia.

Hurdles To Come
Even with Wallace out, Hannegan as professional boss of the Chicago show, has hurdles still to take. If the convention has an open choice on the man for second place, old rivalries and jealousies are likely to come to light.

It's been so long since there's been a contest in the Democratic party for the top national office that an old-fashioned Killdeer fight, such as occurred in the ill-fated convention of 1924, might break out. That kind of fight would harm Roosevelt's chances for reelection in November.

Wallace still has powerful friends in the inner circle. They are working through the President's daughter, Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, to get him retained at FDR's insistence as the vice-presidential candidate. Mrs. Boettiger, now living at the White House and possessed of her mother's energy and zeal, has had a great deal to do with the decisions leading to Tuesday's announcement.

Finally, the two "drafted" presidential candidates have been unveiled. The race is on.

He, At Least, Can Try

WASHINGTON, July 13. ONE THING in this campaign which Governor Dewey certainly does not lack is advice. It comes from all sections of the country, from all elements in his own party and from the anti-New Dealers in the other party. Literally, thousands are rushing to point out to him what he must do in order to defeat Mr. Roosevelt.

ALL OF this advice is gratuitous. Most of it comes by letter or through the columns of the press and not much of it is worth anything. Largely, it comes from amateurs and wishful thinkers. Every man who ever ran for President has had his share of this, but little of it ever gets to the candidate personally. If he is properly organized, the loads of unsought advice are received, acknowledged, analyzed by competent aides and only such suggestions as seem really significant passed on to the man making the fight.

HOWEVER impracticable as most of the suggestions are, there are two things to be said about them. One is that their quantity is a true measure of the interest in a candidacy.

The other is that they often show trends in national opinion which have not been fully appreciated by party leaders. It is therefore interesting to note the report emanating from the little group by whom Mr. Dewey is surrounded—first, that the volume of mail advice exceeds all expectations; second, that an extraordinary percentage of these advisers assail the CIO and the Communist American Labor party and strongly urge him to make their sponsorship of the Roosevelt fourth-term effort an outstanding issue of his campaign.

IT CAN be safely said that this suggestion has reached Governor Dewey personally. It can be said further that its soundness has greatly impressed some of his closest aides who insist that to adopt it is to insure a victory.

The election of crackpots often indicates nothing except that people will vote for anything when sick of what they have.

The World and the Mud Puddles

PERHAPS AN EXILE
Dispatches from the German frontier to London newspapers say that huge trucks laden with supplies have been arriving at Adolf Hitler's Bavarian mountain retreat, Berchtesgaden. The large quantity being transported suggests that "der Fuhrer" may expect to spend the remainder of his days hiding out in this bird cave, which stands on tower-like rock eighteen hundred feet high and is accessible, only by a secret elevator.

If it were possible for the Nazi leader to evade capture or death at the hands of foreign or domestic foes, it would be interesting to speculate on the sort of life he would lead in exile and complete isolation. For it is not likely that Hitler would harbor even his personal and political intimates in this last refuge; the temptation to assassination might prove too great even to permit the presence of servants. The probabilities are that his exile would be complete.

Hitler with only himself for company would be a sorry specimen. His inaccessible castle might keep out the avengers of justice, but it could not keep out thoughts, feelings and memories. No man left to himself for long can escape the court of conscience. The ghosts of a million victims would laugh at locks and stone walls. The radio would bring him daily testimony of the common hatred and ridicule of humanity.

Supreme egoist that Hitler is, his brooding hours and days undoubtedly would see himself as a martyr to a great cause, the misunderstood victim of human perversity, a voice that cried in the wilderness for the redemption of his mankind. Complete insanity through self-pity or mad frustration would be his logical end. For there is no doubt that Hitler has manifested only partial sanity for many years past. Regardless of the numerous symptoms of mental aberration attributed to him by pathologists and psychologists, his mad and utterances prove him to be a victim of a madly peculiar to many murderers and suicides, paranoia.

His sense of infallibility, his delusions of grandeur, his utter inhumanity, his complete inability to look outside of his own mind, all are evidences of the blind and deluded egotism of the paranoiac. Only an individual wholly obsessed by a sense of his own greatness and invincibility, thoroughly convinced of his own righteousness and wisdom, could have perpetrated the acts and uttered the absurd, fanatical proclamations of Adolf Hitler.

A mind and a character like this are not made for solitude. Alone in the silence of his mountain hideout, Hitler will hear the execrations of the glumest Czechs, Jews, Poles, Russians, Yugoslavs, Belgians, Norwegians, Danes, French and Greeks he has robbed, ravished and slaughtered. Mingled with them will be the imprecations of his deluded satellite peoples and partners—and the curses of his own German millions who followed him as gullible children followed the Pied Piper of Hamelin—to annihilation.

"Mein Kampf" with its blatant philosophy of superstate and supermen, will bring him no consolation. Its pages will mock him by reminders of his former glory and ultimate frustration. There will be no parades, no clicking of servile boots, no cheers, no "Heil Hitler!" Allied justice may not have to mete out punishment to Adolf Hitler. What could be a worse penalty than the prolonged existence of Hitler with only Hitler?

Democratic Convention May Be Lively Event
Row Over Vice Presidency Looks Interesting
Dixie Democrats Against Wallace Repeating

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The Democratic national convention will be really exciting. There's going to be a big row over the vice-presidential nominee.

You hear this said almost verbatim in every group that gathers in the capital nowadays to talk about the next big goings-on in Chicago.

"Of course, President Roosevelt will try to make the convention nominate Henry Wallace a second time. . . . But the southern Democrats are up in arms. . . . And Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones means to keep his administration enemy, Wallace, out of the candidacy come what may."

"Uncle Jesse is not going to the convention." He will stay behind in Washington, surrounded by even more long distance phones than usual and tell the southern boys and girls how to keep Henry out! That vice presidency row will be a swell show."

Seek Rival To Clare Luce

And so the talk goes. Yet another possibility of excitement is added to the convention forecasts. Who have the Democrats got to do a Clare Luce for them? The Democrats will just naturally have to have SOMEBODY to rival the Lady from Connecticut. For whether you liked her speech or not, Miss Luce did supply the drama of the Republican convention. She was the theater of the meeting.

Will Helen Gahagan, Congressional candidate from California, be put on the speaker's program to sway the delegates to make them weep or rage while she uses her gifts as an actress in the Luce manner? Possibly so. Miss Gahagan or Mrs. Melvyn Douglas, if you prefer, may be asked to turn the tide for Mr. Wallace. Miss Gahagan will be completely Rooseveltian in her convention behavior.

Or the wife of the president may descend upon the stadium as she did once before. What a superb job Mrs. Roosevelt did then! She calmed the delegates who didn't want Henry Wallace.

I have been critical sometimes of Mrs. Roosevelt's activities. Not because I thought she did not have the right to do what she pleased as a woman, but because I have never thought it possible to differentiate between Eleanor Roosevelt the individual and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the president of the United States. Yet I cannot forget how clever and effective the composite woman was at the last Democratic convention. She had those settling delegates smoothed down into submission a few minutes after she began with "Mr. Chairman and members of the convention—"

Few Remembered
Looking back on the vice-presidents of yesterday it appears that about all the vice presidents can be anyhow is slightly humorous one way or another. Jack Garner was a popular vice president. He gave the role a certain dash. But he is best remembered by his nickname "Cactus Jack," the conviction of his wife, "Miss Etta," the winning of his gavel and the sharpness of his poker game.

Woodrow Wilson's vice president—Thomas Marshall—was also an able and honorable fellow. But those people who recall his name remember him best for his famous remark: "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar. Being vice president is a rocky tour of duty generally and dull and unrewarding."

It is desperately important, however, that earnest prayer and study be put upon the character of the man chosen to run second on a presidential ticket. Six times a vice president has been called upon to fill a vacancy in the presidency left by the death of the president. The office of vice president is therefore one of great potential importance. In selecting a vice president we ought to be almost as careful as when we select a president.

It is so obvious it hardly seems worth while to say it—but it is worth while—a party convention when nominating a candidate for the vice presidency should keep in mind the interests of the country as well as the interests of the party and refuse to name as candidate for the vice presidency any man who would not be likely to admit himself well in the presidential chair.

Yet the joker in this lovely plan is this—few presidential candidates want as a running mate any man who is likely to be a rival in brains, influence or showmanship. The chief wants to steal the show, always!

What People Say

International News Service

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt "If the convention should nominate me for the presidency, I shall accept. If the people elect me, I will serve."

ALBANY—Rep. Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut: "Mr. Roosevelt may be the indispensable man of the Democratic party, but it looks to me as though Mr. Dewey is the inevitable man for the U. S. A."

OTTAWA—General Charles De Gaulle: "For the same reason that a single war common to all covers the whole earth, which has become so small, the peace we will have to make must be a single peace, common to all."

WASHINGTON—Donald M. Nelson, war production chief: "Just as industrial preparation for war had to be started long before large scale fighting began, so also the industrial preparation for peace must be begun in plenty of time before the fighting ends."

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Ward Greene, author of the novel "What They Don't Know," drove his car into a local garage a few days ago to leave it for the day.

"I'd like to have it washed," he said to the attendant.

"Today?" asked the man.

"Yes, today," replied Greene.

"Impossible, we ain't got enough help and there are loads of people ahead of you."

"All right," said Greene with a smile, "maybe it's going to rain, anyway." And he started to walk out.

"Hey, mister," the attendant called after him, "wait a minute."

"When are you going to call for your car?" asked the man with a grin.

"Five o'clock."

"O. K. It'll be washed by then. But you just told me you couldn't do it," Greene remarked.

"Politeness Pays."

Barkley May Be Running Mate

Washington Forecasts Tie Up Kentucky Senator With Fourth Term Ticket

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—It looks like Roosevelt and Barkley. Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky emerges today as a strong favorite for nomination as President Roosevelt's running-mate by the Chicago Democratic convention next week.

High Democrats assert that President Roosevelt, while personally favoring the re-nomination of Vice President Henry A. Wallace, has disclosed to them that he will not seek to impose his personal wishes on the convention.

This means that Barkley will likely be nominated, possibly on the first ballot. He is the overwhelming choice of Democratic congressional leaders and is favored by high New Dealers close to the president.

End of Wallace
Friends of Wallace meanwhile declared the president will issue a statement before the convention assemblies, expressing his personal desire to see the vice president re-nominated. Wallace is reported to have read the statement and approved it. In it, however, the president gives the convention a free rein to make its own choice. That means the end of Wallace.

Washington's shrewdest political observers declare the president "missed the boat" Tuesday if he actually wished to force Wallace's re-nomination. They assert the president by agreeing in advance to accept a fourth term nomination unconditionally missed his opportunity to force Wallace's re-nomination.

It is recalled that Harry L. Hopkins, the third term manager, bluntly told Democratic leaders at the 1940 Chicago convention that "Mr. Roosevelt will not accept the third term nomination unless Henry Wallace is made his running-mate." That threat of Roosevelt's withdrawal forced Wallace's re-nomination by a convention that boasted every mention of Wallace's name.

Divorced Husband Shoots Boy Friend Of Former Spouse

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—(INS)—A Verona man was being sought by police today in connection with the shooting of his divorced wife's boy friend.

Police reported Harry Rectanus, 43, was shot in the leg while he was waiting in an automobile outside a drug store for Mrs. Lila Ethel Layden.

Mrs. Layden told authorities that as she emerged from the drug store her ex-husband, Joseph Layden, 48, approached her and said:

"I've been looking for you for a long time."

He slapped her, then walked over to the car and fired one shot at Rectanus, police reported. Rectanus, who is separated from his wife, was taken to a hospital, where he told authorities Layden had warned him several times to quit keeping company with his former wife.

All Hope Gone For 66 Miners

BELLAIRE, O., July 13.—(INS)—Approximately one million dollars in benefits will accrue to the families of the 66 men who Wednesday were given up for dead inside the sealed and fire-swept Powhatan mine 14 miles from Bellaire.

All hope for the 66 was given up only after failure ended a second attempt to contact them through a small-bore hole driven hundreds of feet into the mine at the spot where they were believed to have been trapped.

The mine was set afire a week ago. Among the benefits the families of the victims will receive are $100,000 from life insurance policies, $5,000 each or $420,000 altogether in state compensation, $51,000 as mine union burial allowances, and an indefinite amount for widows and children from Social Security.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

avoid. Thus, he is urged to act boldly, not only because it is good politics but also because it is right. More often than one would think the two things are the same. Less often does a candidate for high office have the shrewdness to recognize it when they are or have the courage to do the right thing and take the risk. There is reason to believe that Governor Dewey has both the shrewdness to do the one and the courage to do the other. At any rate, there is a growing belief that about September he will meet this CIO business head on and do his best to open the popular mind to its full implications.

IN SUPPORT of this purpose some interesting arguments are advanced: (1) The CIO and the American Labor party, with its Communist affiliates, being 100 per cent for Mr. Roosevelt anyway, to challenge them openly cannot possibly lose Governor Dewey any votes. (2) The clearer it is made that Mr. Hillman and his CIO Political Action Committee are not only running but financing the Roosevelt campaign, the greater will be the reaction among the voters who resent the domination of this Administration by the professional labor bosses. (3) The Political Action Committee is circulating by the million a weekly newspaper whose gross distortions of the truth border on the libelous. Its scurrilous attacks are well calculated to poison the minds of the workers. Smear is far too mild a name for what this publication is doing and the only way to vaccinate against it is to take off the gloves and hit it hard.

IT is further argued that under the circumstances if the fourth term is successful it will put the most extreme radical labor faction in full control of the Government. For the first time it would have nominated and elected a President and would have a right to regard him as its President. That he would be so no one who knows the record or recalls the words of his Attorney General can really doubt. Once fully understood, it is contended, this prospect would be abhorrent to the great bulk of the American people. Certainly it should be distasteful to the leaders of the AFL already relegated to the rear so far as the Administration is concerned. Nor should it appeal to the men in the armed services, outraged by the hundreds of strikes by which war production has been slowed down and held up.

THERE DOES seem an opportunity here for Governor Dewey. Beyond all question this country is not in accord with what these radical CIO leaders have done politically, are doing and plan to do. Beyond all question, this country is not in favor of Government domination by CIO bosses. Beyond all question, though it is plain enough, the American people do not realize what Roosevelt success this time would do for the CIO and Communist leaders. Governor Dewey can gain nothing but lose much by shrinking from the task of showing them. He should take it on as a friend of labor, making his attack not upon unions and not upon union membership but upon the group of selfish, blatant, power-greedy bosses who are leading the workingman and the nation for the benefit of themselves and of their Communist ideas.

WHAT REACTION Governor Dewey will get depends, of course, upon the force, skill and courage with which he presents the case. Considering his record as a District Attorney, this ought to be his dish—and there is plenty of factual material at hand. This much is certain—whatever reaction there is is bound to be in his favor, because the full story of this New Deal-CIO-Communist fourth-term political combination is as sinister and cynical as one as political combination is overwhelming. The effects of its success are clear to any thinking person. The question is whether Governor Dewey can so convincingly present the facts to the people as a whole that they will be jarred into a reaction. He can't lose by trying. BALLOT BID

The bids for the printing of the election ballots for November will probably be let earlier this year due to the military ballots which must be sent out early. It will be interesting to see what percentage of service men and women vote this year and from what parts of the world their ballots come.

On the list of registered military voters are men who are stationed all over this country in England, on the continent, in Africa, Iran, India, China, and the outposts of the seven seas.

TUBERCULOSIS

Tuberculosis is with us all the time. In our state an average of eleven persons died of tuberculosis every day.

It is a contagious or catching disease. The germs are passed from the sick to the well. They are passed by coughing, by the hands, by table silverware and by dishes.

Persons having tuberculosis should be under the care of a doctor. They should learn how to take care of themselves.

Anyone who has been in contact with a person having tuberculosis should have a medical examination. The examination should be made even if the person seems perfectly well.

Skin tests and x-rays are very helpful in finding early cases. If the disease is detected in the early stages, the patient may receive proper care and not have much trouble.

The routine testing of school children is a very valuable procedure.

plain for him. No matter what the cause of his rejection, he knows that the neighborhood and his associates will do a lot of whispering over his case. If it is noised abroad that it was for some mental or emotional unfitness, his worries may become terrifying to him. I hear from a number of these sufferers.

Help For Rejected Youth

This youth should be helped to see that even if for such a reason he was rejected by the medical examiner, most who might not be considered a good bet for holding up in the armed forces can get along very well in normal civilian life where the nervous strain is not nearly so great.

Anyway, parents and others dealing with the youth rejected or who merely is under military age and feels himself overshadowed with the attention a brother in the Service naturally receives need to provide him with adequate understanding and helpful consideration. In this a neighbor, church or youth leader might assist.

Always I am glad to hear from such youth and their parents. Please enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope when a reply is desired to 235 East 45th street, New York City.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

How Mussolini Planned Attacks Being Revealed

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME July 13.—Dramatic evidence of former Premier Benito Mussolini's foolhardy conviction that the British empire would be a "pushover" in war was published by the Rome newspaper Tempo today.

This well-known journal, which has resumed publication after years of repression under the Fascists and Nazis, obtained the minutes of a secret meeting held at Mussolini's Palazzo Venezia on October 15, 1940, at which time his grand council decided to attack Greece.

The decision was clearly Mussolini's responsibility. The minutes of the meeting quoted him as saying:

"This is an invasion that I have prepared for many months."

"I decided upon it even before our entry into the war on June 10, 1940."

Badoglio Opposed

The minutes showed that Mussolini had stored fake French ammunition in Albania to use for instigation of the attack, apparently in an attempt to foist responsibility upon France. Marshal Pietro Badoglio opposed the whole affair, the minutes showed, on the ground that Italian forces were insufficient to wage war on the Balkan front but was overruled.

Simultaneously with the invasion of Albania, Mussolini ordered Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, the commander of the Italian forces in North Africa, to attack the British lines at Mersa Matruh.

Mussolini was convinced that Egypt would crumble rapidly under the assault, sending the Italians to Cairo, Alexandria and the Suez Canal.

At this time, London was in the midst of the German air "blitz" and Mussolini said:

"Even if London should be able to sustain herself under this attack, the situation in India is so critical it would be impossible for Britain to send reinforcements to the Middle East."

The erstwhile Duce told his listeners at the grand council meeting that subjugation of Greece would be a matter of 10 days at most. The campaign actually lasted many weeks and the Italians themselves were faced with disaster until the German army moved in to its support.

1937 CLUB GUESTS AT ELKS WEDNESDAY

Elks club social room was the mecca for 1937 club members when they met Wednesday afternoon for a period of card playing. Honor prizes fell to Mrs. Sol DiLullo, Mrs. William Murphy and Mrs. George Woodring at conclusion of play.

Plans were made to hold a tea room party on July 26, while the next regular meeting is scheduled for July 19 at the Elks.

S. H. Club

S. H. club members gathered Wednesday evening for a theatre party, with Mrs. Frances Lewis, R. D. 7, as hostess.

Afterwards dainty refreshments were enjoyed in a tea room, by the group. Mary McCrea was a special guest. Mrs. Ann Cherol won the club token.

July 26 is the meeting with Mrs. Hilda Camuso, of South Jefferson street.

Letter Reports McCullough Is Now Improving

Mrs. Cecelia McCullough, 202 Dickson street, today received a letter from her son, Franklin, who was with the invasion forces which landed in France and who was reported wounded. The letter said he had shrapnel wounds of the head, neck and leg but was getting along fine in an English hospital. He told his mother not to worry. His father was the late Franklin McCullough, known in athletic circles here as "Sank".

Nazi Air Force Fighting Harder

Germans Using Smoke Screens To Save Oil Refineries And Air-dromes From Attack

ROME, July 13.—(INS)—The Germans are using smoke screens to protect their hard-hit air-dromes and refineries against Allied bombings, necessitating constant use of instruments for attack. Maj. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, commander of the Mediterranean air force, disclosed today.

In addition, he said, the German air force has made a reappearance during the last month and has been putting up a "tough scrap" in desperate defense of Germany's remaining synthetic oil plants.

U. S. Production Behind Schedule

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—Acting Secretary of War Patterson, pointing to an eight per cent lag in current production schedules, declared today that the manpower program is feeling a more severe pinch at the present than at any time since the beginning of the war.

"In the second quarter of 1944," Patterson told his news conference, "production was some 400 million dollars behind schedule April 1, and those were at the time deemed feasible."

Patterson said that shortages had developed in the production of "I Toms" (155 millimeter guns), medium tank and tank destroyers, bulldozers, heavy duty trucks and field wire.

Spain Air Lines Agreement Made

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—The State Department announced today that an agreement had been reached with the government of Spain on landing rights in that country for United States air lines.

The official announcement of the diplomatic agreement was brief and contained no details, but the department said that technical angles will be worked out with Spanish officials by three American aviation officials who have just landed at Lisbon en route to Madrid.

Today's announcement was regarded in aviation circles as a counter-move inspired by the 17 domestic air lines which are trying to break down the dominant position of Pan American Airways in foreign operations.

American Tank Losses Heavy

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—Rep. Short (R. Mo., declared today that American "D-Day" losses of tanks were "heavier than anticipated" and sharply warned against hasty reconversion to peace-time production.

At the same time Short disclosed in an interview that the house military affairs committee of which he is a member plans to resume hearings on the problem of reconversion before Congress reconvenes.

"It is of immediate concern because tanks and other types of field equipment—much more than anticipated—were lost on the Normandy beachhead, although casualties were fewer," Short declared.

Army Casualties To June 20, 187,028

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(INS)—American army casualties through June 20 were placed today by Acting Secretary of War Patterson at 187,028 killed, wounded, missing and prisoners.

The total included 33,240 killed, 177,449 wounded, 38,142 missing and 38,197 prisoners.

Patterson said the total included very few of the casualties suffered on the Normandy beachhead. American army casualties in Italy through June 3 were placed at 12,655 killed, 47,457 wounded and 10,287 missing—a total of 70,399.

Betty Compton Is Claimed By Death

Former Wife Of Ex-Mayor Jimmie Walker Of New York Dies Following Illness

NEW YORK, July 13.—(INS)—The death of Betty Compton, 38, former singer and dancer of musical comedy fame, who became even more widely known as the wife of New York's ex-Mayor James J. Walker, was announced today. She had been ill seven months.

The star of such Broadway hits as "Oh, Kay," "Hold Everything," "Fanny Face" and "Fifty Million Frenchmen," died as Mrs. Theodore Knappen, whose husband is a West Point graduate and consulting engineer. She had been ill, her husband disclosed, ever since the birth of their first child, an eight-pound boy, last January.

Miss Compton's romance with Walker began while he still was the playboy mayor of New York. She was disclosed also as the famous "unnamed person" mentioned during Samuel Seabury's investigation into Walker's administration, which led eventually to Walker's resignation as mayor.

Walker and Miss Compton were married in Cannes in 1933. Her first husband was Capt. Stanley R. Riches, a Canadian. Her second was Edward Dowling, stage and film director, whom she divorced in Mexico.

Besides her son born in January, she leaves two children adopted by her and Walker.

Over-30 Group May Never Be Summoned

NEW YORK, July 13.—(INS)—Unless the military situation should take "unforeseen turns," the nation's present draft age policy will meet the demands of the future, Selective Director Lewis B. Hershey declared Wednesday.

Speaking before the Commerce & Industry Association, Maj. Gen. Hershey said:

"So long as the demands remain at the present stage, the use of the over-30-year-old group would not seem necessary, but the answer rests on the war situation."

J. W. Huston, who dressed the horses for three coronations and for the funeral of Queen Victoria, has died at Battersea, England, aged 84.

Successes and Failures of Israel

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Carried into captivity.

"Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."—Proverbs 14:34.

By NEWMAN CAMPELL

The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for July 16 is Judges 2:1-3, 7. The Golden Text being Proverbs 14:34. "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

You remember in our last lesson the children of Israel promised to worship only their own God who had brought them out of slavery in Egypt and guided them through 40 years of wandering.

When they conquered the promised land, they were told to annihilate or drive out utterly the people who inhabited those lands, but they did not do so.

"And an angel of the Lord came up from Gilgal to Bochim and said: 'I made you to go up out of Egypt, and have brought you unto the land which I swore unto your fathers; and I said, I will never break My covenant with you. And ye shall make no league with the inhabitants of this land: ye shall down their altars; but ye have not obeyed my voice: why have ye done this?'

"Wherefore I also said, I will not drive them out from before you, but they shall be as thorns in your sides, and their gods shall be a snare unto you."

Israelites Weep and Sacrifice. Thus reminded of the Lord's commands, the people wept and sacrificed unto the Lord. As long as Joshua was living and the generation (about 30 years) after him they kept their promises, but after they had buried him in "the border of his inheritance in the mount of Ephraim on the north side of the hill of Gaash," and the next generation had also come, they "did evil in the sight of the Lord, and served Baalim."

"And they forsook the Lord God of their fathers, which had brought them out of the land of Egypt, and followed other gods of the people that were round about them, and bowed themselves unto them, and provoked the Lord to anger." Thus it was that the people among whom the Israelites lived were made a thorn in their side, as the Lord said.

"And the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel because of this, and He declared that henceforth He would not drive out any from before them of the nations which Joshua left when he died."

"That through them I may prove Israel, whether they will keep the way of the Lord to walk therein, as their fathers did keep it, or not." The nation in the land which he had given to the Israelites were the five lords of the Philistines, the Canaanites, the Sidonians, and the Hivites.

The children of Israel lived among these people, and they did not heed the Lord's wishes, but they took the daughters of these people to be their wives, and gave their daughters to the sons, and served the heathen gods. Thus did they evil in the sight of the Lord and were a reproach to their people.

One Man Dies In Pittsburgh Fire

Two Others Injured When Rooming House In East Liberty Burns

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—(INS)—One man was killed and two others were injured today when a four-alarm fire swept through a rooming house in East Liberty.

Five other persons were routed by the blaze which caused an estimated $15,000 damage to the three-story brick building.

Charles Selman, 50, was dead when firemen carried him from his third floor room. One of the injured, Harold Gabler, 38, suffered a back injury when he leaped from a third floor window to a second floor roof and then to the ground.

Firemen reported the blaze apparently started in the basement and ate its way up through the entire building.

Lack Of Education To Defend Peace Is Scored By Educator

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—(INS)—"Lack of education to defend peace" was scored today as having been one of the reasons for "our unpreparedness in the past."

Speaking before the elementary school principals' conference at the University of Pittsburgh, Dr. Ben Wood, director of the Bureau of Educational Research at Columbia University, continued:

"Peace must be pursued as militantly as we are pursuing military victory. Shall we go on teaching the ideals of peace and go on supplying scrap iron and gasoline to nations whose avowed purpose for generations has been to destroy all we stand for?"

Glass medicine bottles with screw tops make handy containers for buttons of various sizes, pins and needles. They save much "hunting" in the sewing basket.

Board Adopts Schedule For Coming Term At Meeting Last Night

Miss Marian Clark was elected as a teacher in the New Castle schools Wednesday night, July 12 when the board of directors met at the administration building on East Street for the present she will be unassigned.

The board granted a military leave to Miss Mildred Burleson of the senior high school. Miss Burleson recently joined the Wacs.

The resignation of Arthur Alexander as head coach of George Washington Junior high school was accepted. Mr. Alexander has been named director of the city playgrounds, an all year round position.

Upon recommendation of Clare Book, principal of the senior high school two new books were added for use in the school system.

Doll Show Held In Spite Of Rain

Sixty-Nine-Year-Old Doll Among The Forty Entries At West Side Playground Show

Wednesday's much-looked-for rain caused a little bit of confusion at the West Side Playground's doll show, but failed to dampen the spirits of either the dolls or their owners.

Forty entries, owned by both boys and girls, were listed. Numbers were drawn for positions in the parade which passed the five judges, Helen Haynes, Earlene Strehler, Marjorie Becker, Alice Becker, and Mary Respress. Prize ribbons were red and blue.

Oldest doll in the show, and incidentally, oldest doll in any of the playground shows yet held was Tommy Younger's 69-year-old doll which had been brought from England by Tommy's great grandfather in 1875.

Other exceptional dolls were the best dressed ones owned by Kay

Thornton and Sandra Becker; the smallest, owned by James Schoss, and Richard Logan; the prettiest, owned by Pat LeComte and Les McCommins; the cutest, belonging to June Becker and Paul Thornton; the cuddliest, owned by Marian Fav Becker and Ellen Anne McCure; the biggest, owned by Eleanor Mae Logan and Rose Marie Mulcahy; and the most unusual, belonging to George Strehler and Tommy Younger.

Miss Gene McIlvaine, playground supervisor, was in charge of the show.

Lindbergh Living With Fifth Air Force In British And Dutch New Guinea

STUDYING DESIGNS FOR NEW PLANES

By LEE VAN ALTA (U.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE FIFTH AIR FORCE IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, July 13.—(INS)—Charles A. Lindbergh was revealed today to have been living for several weeks with the U. S. Fifth Air Force in British and Dutch New Guinea, studying ways and means of improving twin-engine American fighters and attack bombers now in use and is planning designs far ahead of them which will go into production as soon as possible.

Observes New Types

The man who flew solo from New York to Paris in 1927 in the "Spirit of St. Louis" has flown all types of twin-engine aircraft in Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney's air force. He also has ridden "playback" in order to be able to observe the planes' characteristics without being "bused" piloting them at the same time. The Lone Eagle lived with the crack fighter unit known as "Hell's Angels" and spent most of his time aloft or "hanging round" with the pilots. He conferred only briefly with the generals, then moved up to the most advanced jungle base. Shared a dusty tent with the unit's commander and hitch-hiked just like any ordinary G. I. Joe, when he wanted to get from the camp to the airfield.

Liked by Fliers

Major Thomas McGuire, of San Antonio, Tex., ace of the unit with 20 Jap planes to his credit, summed up the opinion of the fighter pilots when he said of Lindbergh: "He's really a swell guy. He mixed with everybody and spent lots of time mingling with crew members, mechanics and especially crew chiefs. He has taken in all the information any of us could give him and seemed to appreciate it greatly. Believe me, he certainly knows his airplanes, too."

Lindbergh returned yesterday to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in New Guinea, where he conferred with Kenney.

bourg peninsula, reducing their combat scope to one of attritional warfare entirely.

Must Be Taken

The time has long since passed when St. Lo was a counter-offensive threat to the Allies. It is now merely a bustling enemy strongpoint that must be overwhelmed.

In all likelihood, Gen. Eisenhower's communications in the next day or two will announce the occupation of St. Lo, along with Lessay and Periers, giving the Allies a firm hold on all the communications systems of the Cherbourg peninsula.

By KINGSBURY SMITH (U.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREMACY HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 13.—Punishing assaults by American troops driving the Germans steadily back from the neck of the Cherbourg peninsula carried the Yanks today to positions three miles south of captured La Haye Du Puits.

Nazis Badly Battered

The Germans were battered back by American, British and Canadian forces at important points all along the Normandy battlefield which has been extended to a distance of 100 miles.

The Americans scored the principal gains in drives directed against the communications centers of St. Lo, Periers and Lessay.

British and Canadian forces inflicted severe losses on the Germans in beating down enemy counter-attacks. They improved their positions between the Odon and Orne rivers and retook the town of Malot, near the Orne southwest of Caen.

The Yanks were reported to have smashed their way to within a mile and one-half of St. Lo and headquarters located other American troops within three miles of both Periers and Lessay.

Numerous towns along the entire American-held front from the west coast at the base of the Cherbourg peninsula to east of St. Lo fell to the punishing assaults of Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's forces.

Headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said that the American First Army continued to drive the Germans back from the base of the peninsula, advancing to points three miles south of captured La Haye Du Puits.

Create Salients

The American advances created several salients in the German line which the Yanks proceeded to close.

Among the points which fell to Gen. Bradley's troops were La Salmonerie, southeast of the Forest of Mont Castré which is southeast of La Haye.

South of Sainteny, on the road to Periers, the Yanks took La Maugerie and La Roserie.

Troops converging on St. Andrew De Bohun, to the east, met across the Taute river and most of the village was in American hands.

The town of La Meauffe was bypassed in the advance north of St. Lo and enemy troops in the area were mopped up. St. Pierre Le Semilly also was occupied after the Yanks crossed the St. Lobergny road.

The Americans took over control of the area of La Lan De Mauditt, two miles west of the Periers-Lessay road, three miles northwest of Periers.

In the same advance the Yanks captured St. Germaine, five miles north of Periers, and the village of Gordes, one and one-half miles east of St. Germaine.

The Americans now hold Le Plessis, on the road directly north of Periers.

Widen Line

In a move to the west, the Americans widened their line in the Pont Herbert area.

Headquarters announced that the Allied front in Normandy now is approximately 100 miles long. It includes considerable inundated areas, and the portion on which offensive action is taking place includes only one-half that total mileage.

Steady pressure maintained by the Yanks along their front resulted in several gains, particularly in the areas of the Forest of Mont Castré west of Sainteny and east of St. Lo.

The Germans continued to hurl heavy counter-attacks against the British on the eastern sectors but these forces held and lost no ground. Instead, they moved forward at some points to improve positions and recaptured the town of Malot on the Orne river front.

Beat Off Counter Attacks

"German counter-attacks thrown repeatedly against our positions on the Caen-Evrecy road were beaten off," the communiqué said.

The Americans east of the Lessay-Periers road took the village of Vesly, one-half mile east of the road and three miles from Lessay. Then they crossed a stream south of Vesly and reached a point one-half mile southwest of the town.

From the point below Vesly the American line proceeds north a quarter of a mile east of Vesly, with Americans on the northern slopes of Hill 92 holding the highest position in the area.

Gen. Bradley's forces were in possession of the village of Gerville two and one-half miles southeast of La Haye. These forces captured Hill 83.

From there the American line then continues east to Pierrepont and St. Germaine and borders Le Plessis.

The Americans made no move in the inundated area but to the south advanced to the banks of the Severs near the village of Nay, three and one-half miles northeast of Periers, to two and one-half miles west of Sainteny.

East of the Taute river the Americans advanced westward, reaching the edge of La Bois De Hommet. The American line then goes back to the village of La Desert, which the Americans now hold.

Get Papers Ready For Collection On Saturday

By now, of course, you are aware there will be a collection of old newspapers in New Castle and the townships immediately adjoining the city. And you know, of course, that the paper will be used in the Shenango Pottery and the proceeds will go to the recreation fund of the Deshon General Hospital Annex in Cunningham Park.

The reason for this article is just to remind you that all the preparations in the world aren't worth a whoop unless there is a lot of bundled newspapers on the curb Saturday morning before noon. And if you live in Shenango, Neshannock, Taylor or Union townships, your paper should be at the township collection stations by Friday night. Here's all there is to it: Gather up all the old newspapers you have at home. Tie them in bundles of not over 15 pounds and put them on the curb (if you are in New Castle). The trucks will do the rest.

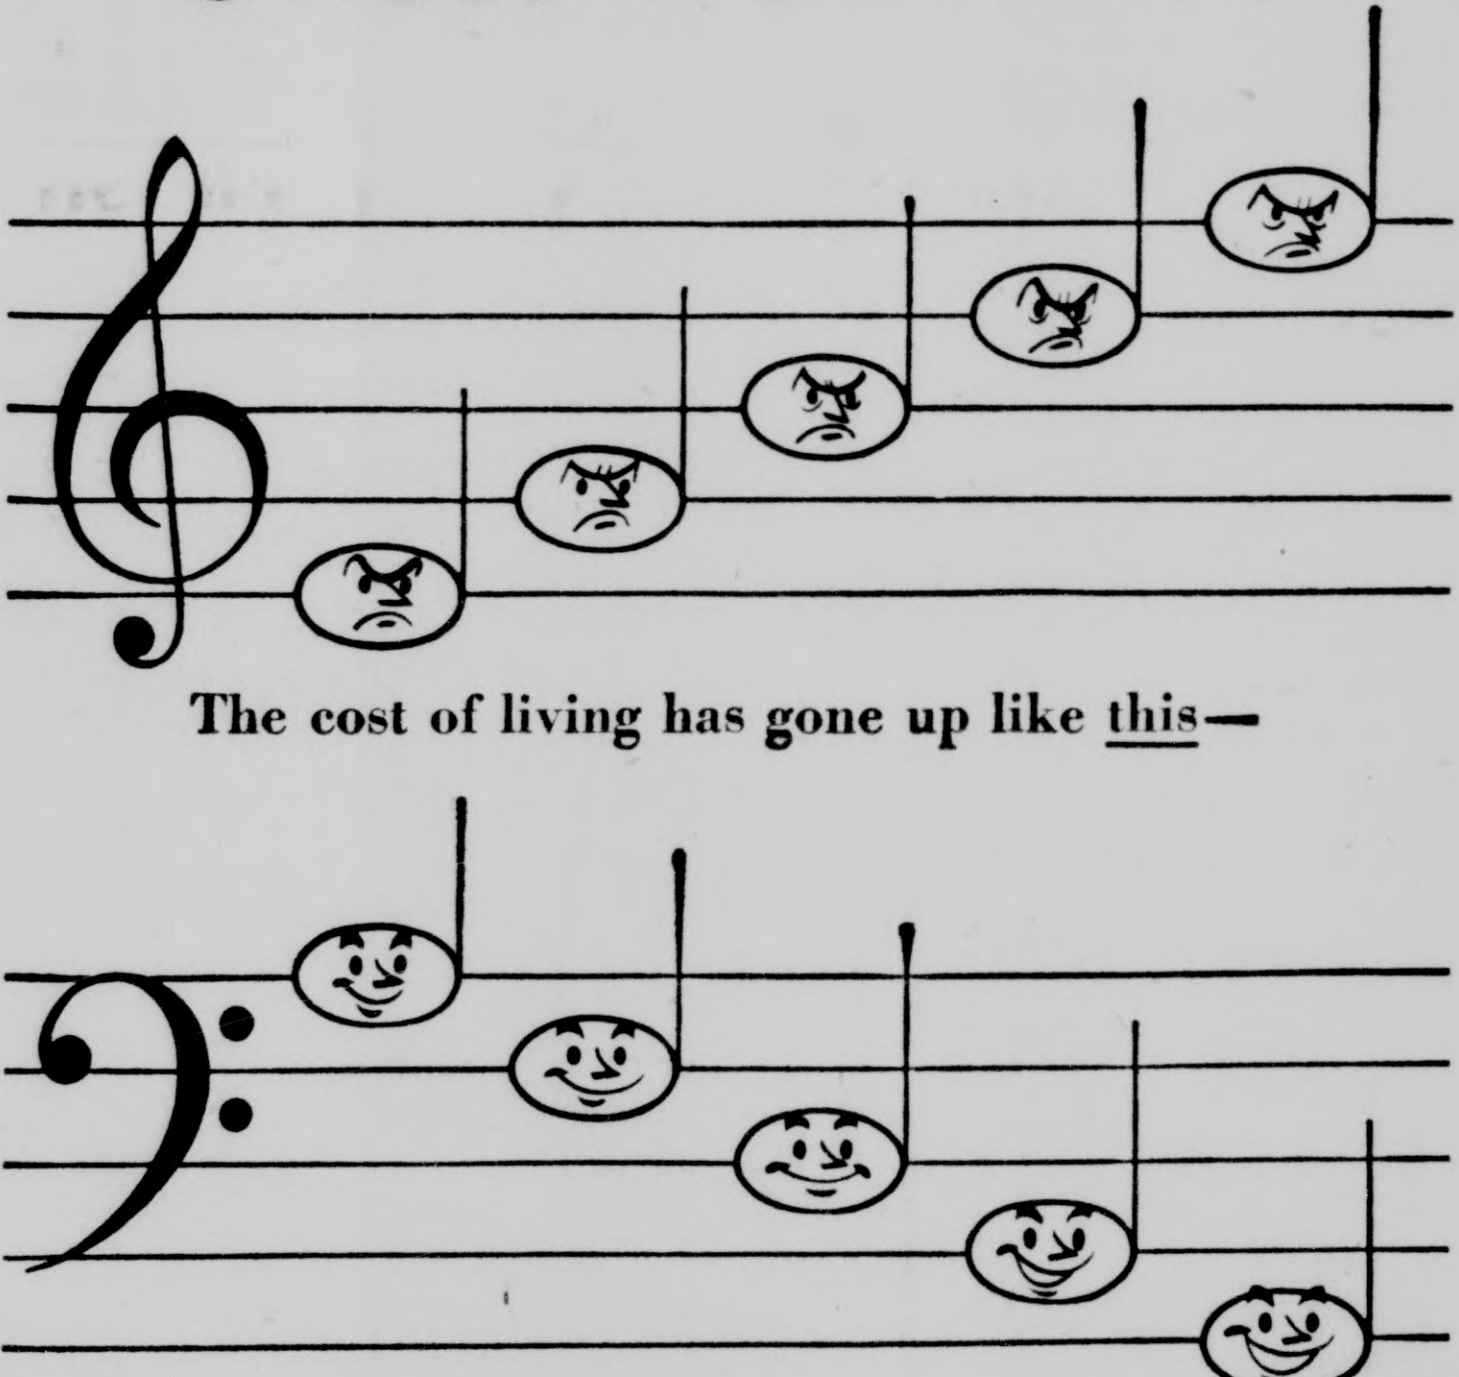

There are many volunteers to help in the collection but there are a lot more needed. Some of the men at the annex are coming in to help. Some Boy Scouts are already pledged to help but there is still a need for men to aid. If you're interested in putting out a few hours

BUT the price of electricity has come down like this!

Nobody needs to tell you that the cost of living has been soaring toward high C.

But maybe you do need a reminder that the cost of electricity has been sliding deep down.

If yours is an average household, you're getting about twice as much electricity for your money today as you did 15 years ago. And 1944 government figures show that the average price has continued to ease off a little—even since war began. That fact ought to be music to your ears!

Getting prices down and keeping them down is one of the electric industry's greatest achievements.

It took a lot of planning, perspiration and practical business management to do this job in wartime. All our people played a part.

Fort Pitt Area Drive Over Top

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—(INS)—The 19-county Fort Pitt area today was reported by the Federal Reserve bank to have gone "over the top" in the purchases of all types of bonds during the fifth war loan drive.

Total purchases today were listed at $340,479,600, or 102 per cent of its $334,914,500 goal. Of this sum, $103,456,700 was credited to the 18 counties outside of Allegheny.

"E" bond purchases still lagged however. Allegheny county was reported to have purchased approximately 54 per cent of its quota, while the other 18 counties were credited with purchases totaling 56 per cent of their quotas.

Invasion Shipping Losses Not Heavy

LONDON, July 13.—(INS)—United States shipping losses in the invasion of France were three destroyers, one transport, one minesweeper, a destroyer escort and a tug, officials announced today.

The British lost three destroyers, three frigates, a trawler and an auxiliary ship, the admiralty said.

AROUND CITY HALL

Council met today in city hall and asked for bids for the construction of a main sewer from South Liberty street to the disposal plant and the construction of an outfalls sewer from the plant to the Mahoning river and also the erection of an addition to the chlorine building. When the sewers were examined they were found to be in very bad shape and council deemed it would be more feasible to build new sewers.

Councilman Joseph D. Alexander introduced a bill which was reported favorably from council committee in city hall which will result in the Big Run creek bed for a short distance being paved with concrete which will, council believes, help to eliminate any possible flood condition, collection of obstructions and it may be also used as a wading pool. The playground area there is to be cleared of huge boulders and bids were asked for construction of not more than three shelters, one of which will be built at the Big Run playground. The ordinance will be passed next week. Recreation board offered the recommendations.

Council met today and appropriated a fund of $5,000 from general revenue to the city solicitor's department by which just claims against the city may be paid for if such becomes necessary.

In these days of gasoline shortage, much is used on police visits caused as follows: run to Reynolds and South Jefferson streets at 1 a. m. because of a gang annoying people; shooting a cat, breaking up another gang in Center street and shooting boys who were playing a trumpet to the annoyance of residents of West Washington street.

King George I of England was nicknamed "Farmer George" because he expressed the opinion that Hyde Park should be used for growing turnips.

There are an estimated 5,000,000 victims of hay fever in this country.

Hitler Holding War Conference With Officers

LONDON, July 13.—(INS)—Reports from Berlin received in Viceroy were quoted by the London Daily Mail today as saying that Adolf Hitler is holding a supreme council of war with all of his high staff officers, including Field Marshal Guenther von Kluge. The latter recently replaced Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt as commander of Nazi forces in French Normandy.

A Madrid dispatch to the newspaper said that the council already has lasted three days and is believed to be deciding on the regrouping of reserves and on possible future withdrawals from certain occupied areas.

Output of Portland cement in Peru increased from 66,340 barrels in 1925 to 1,227,064 barrels in 1943 and exports, which began in 1942, are growing steadily.

Seventh Ward

Ward Soldier Seeks Brother In Pacific

Word has been received from Staff Sgt. Joe Pisano, formerly of the 7th, by the seventh ward reporter. The last information as to his whereabouts was that he was stationed in New Guinea in the Pacific.

Joe says he is now with the chemical warfare company, and that he fired the "flame throwers" for the first time, states "I like them very much." Sgt. Pisano remarks "I don't feel right here in another branch of the service, the infantry is my branch, and I am being transferred back to it."

Before going into the Pacific battle area, Sgt. Pisano was in service for 3 1/2 years in the Panama Canal Zone, then to Louisiana for a few months training recruits. In September, he will have been in service for five years.

Sgt. Pisano has been anxious to meet his brother, Pvt. Siorvante Pisano over there, but says he missed him again, he having moved out of the camp the day before Joe got there; also missed Pfc. Al "Chick" Rozzi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Rozzi of South Liberty street. Joe is a son of Mrs. Mary Pisano of 11 Tremont street.

CAR SHOPS TEAM SUPPER TONIGHT

Members and officers of the Pennsylvania Railroad car shops baseball team are having a spaghetti supper this evening at Columbus hall, South Liberty street. Supper will be served from 6:30 to 9 o'clock.

This team has made itself an enviable record among the teams of the city and county. They have entered the City Baseball league for the second half of the season's games. Frank Russo is manager and Joe Zumpella is business manager of this team.

"CRUSADERS" MEET TONIGHT

This evening, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hunt, of the Harlansburg road, will be hosts to members of the Crusaders Sunday school class, of the Madison Avenue Christian church. The class will meet at the church at 7:30, for transportation to the Hunt home.

"M. E. G.'S MEET TONIGHT

This evening, members of the M. E. G. Auxiliary of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church will be entertained at the home of Miss Ethel Scheideman, of West Madison avenue, at 8 o'clock.

VARIETY CLUB TONIGHT

Mrs. Louise Domenick of 115 West Wabash avenue will be hostess this evening to members of the Variety club at her home at 8 o'clock.

SACRED HEART SODALITY

Members of the Sacred Heart Sodality will meet tonight at 6:30 o'clock in St. Lucy's church for a special meeting.

NOT MUCH RAIN

Word from Mrs. Ransom W. Barris of Mt. Jackson road states that the amount of rain that fell in their vicinity was small, not enough to disturb the playing of horseshoes, which went right along. Less than two miles from that location there had been some heavy showers.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Snyder, of Eighth street, is confined to her home with illness.

Mrs. J. R. Kane, of Youngstown, has returned, after visiting with Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Lally, of 125 Orchard street.

Mrs. Mary Lada, of 201 West Madison avenue, who is receiving treatment at the New Castle hospital, is improving.

Florence Straver, of West Wabash avenue, who underwent a tonsil operation at the Jameson Memorial Hospital, has returned to her home.

Mrs. Frances Martone, of 215 West Cherry street, has left for Erie, where she is visiting with her brother-in-law, Philip Martone and family.

Kay Kennedy, of R. D. 7, Mahoningtown, has been returned to her home, after undergoing a tonsil operation at the Jameson Memorial Hospital.

Miss Florence DeLuca, of Cleveland, formerly of the ward, has returned, after visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale DeLuca, of 206 South Cedar street.

Mrs. Ethel Ford, of 302 North

Cedar street, has returned to her home from the Jameson Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Ford underwent a tonsil operation, and is getting along nicely.

NIMROD NOTE

An old proverb says, "When squirrels are scarce in autumn, the winter will be severe." Scientists say, "When squirrels are scarce in autumn, the hunters have been busy."

When heavy rainfall recently damaged the corn crop in South Africa, many farmers promptly planted their damaged corn fields in wheat, and are assured a bumper crop.

Breathing Spell For Dewey Today

By LEO O'BRIEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
ALBANY, July 13—Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, today enjoyed his first "breathing-spell" of the week in his 15-hour-a-day round of conferences with party leaders and congressional candidates from surrounding states.

With his calendar virtually clear of important callers, for the time being, the governor was to address 239 high school juniors attending the Empire Girls' state camp, which will induct officers today at the capitol.

Well Pleased

The Republican nominee was reported highly pleased with the conference he has conducted so far this week. They indicated to him that the party is entering the campaign united and also reflected a high degree of confidence on the part of Republican leaders in several states which have gone Democratic in recent presidential elections, among them Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Gov. Dewey also gave his approval to the campaign plans being formulated by national chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr., who told the presidential candidate that the party will enter the campaign well fortified for the battle ahead.

During peacetime the public consumes 5,000,000,000 bottles of soft drinks during June, July and August. This year civilian consumption will be reduced to about 55 per cent of normal, with 15 per cent of the reduced supply going to factory workers to relieve fatigue.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC IN OUR SCHOOLS

Did you ever watch a band march by and think how it would be to play in that band? Were you ever fascinated by the skill of a brick layer throwing mortar and bricks into place to make an attractive open fire place for a living room, or a painter turning a series of seemingly nonchalant smears of the brush into a beautiful painting? Did you ever try to do any of these things that look so easy and so interesting? Golf, bowling, skating, swimming, and a host of other sports, all look easy and that's why so many of us spend so much time trying to master the innumerable little tricks that would make them just as easy and gratifying as they look.

Last spring one of the tenth grade boys in the senior high school came to the conclusion that he would like to play in the band. He got a trumpet, arranged for private lessons, and practiced enthusiastically all summer. In the fall he entered the junior band. There are two bands in the senior high school, a junior band and a senior band. Ordinarily the junior band has an enrollment of thirty or forty, and all who are scheduling band for the first time in senior high school, are required to spend one semester in this organization. This year, however, the enrollment in the senior band had fallen down so much, because of war conditions, that all except a few were placed in the junior band. This left a junior band of eight, most of whom were practically beginners. This group has been rehearsing together now since the beginning of school, a little more than three months. The boy with the trumpet is still taking private lessons, and has been trying hard to learn to read and play his parts in the band. One day last week after rehearsal he said, "You know I never knew it was so hard to learn to play in a band. When I used to see the band marching down the street it looked so easy."

Did you ever try to read a piece of band music? Suppose you were sitting beside this boy in band rehearsal and were endeavoring to read his part. What would it look like? Well, first of all there would be a title to the number. It may be an overture, or a selection, or a suite, or a symphony, or maybe just a march. Whatever the type of number, there is a long history back of it, the understanding of which would help in the interpretation of the number. Below this would be the name of the part: Piccolo, Eb Clarinet, Oboe, Bassoon, Solo Clarinet, Tuba, or any other of some twenty-five or thirty separate and independent parts for which band music is ordinarily written. Opposite this would be the name of the composer. If it is a march by John Philip Sousa, a waltz by Johann Strauss, a symphony by Ludwig van Beethoven, or operatic music by Richard Wagner, we know at once that it is good. Hundreds of other composers of equal or lesser ability are known for their works. Immediately above the first few measures of the number would be a term, usually in Italian, indicating the speed at which the number is to be played, and the style: allegro, andante, sostenuto, largo, vivace, maestoso, etc. On the staff itself there would appear first, a clef sign, denoting on which line a certain note would come, and thus locating the pitches of all the notes; the treble, bass, viola, tenor, or soprano clef. After this would come the key signature, indicating which notes were to be lowered or raised a half step, and thus determining where the half and whole steps would come in the scale. This would in turn be followed by the time signature, telling how many beats in a measure, and what kind of note should receive one beat: common or four-four time, three-four, two-four, two-eight, six-eight time, cut time, etc. Below the staff would be letters and other markings, standing for Italian terms indicating how loud or softly to play, and when to hurry or retard the speed. But all of this serves only to give an indication of the result to be produced. The performer must know what fingers to put down, how to blow to produce a certain pitch and quality of tone, and how long to hold each note; and he must have practiced combinations of these often enough that he does not get confused when he tries to play his part with the many other and different parts being fitted together. Then if the boy goes out to march with the band he must keep in step and in line, both while marching straight ahead and also in making turns, and must know how to overcome the jolts that come from street car tracks and chuck holes in the streets.

Now you can see why the boy with the trumpet was finding playing in a band so much harder than he had anticipated. But let's go back with this boy through his previous schooling and see what he should have had to build upon. We will suppose that during his first year or so in school he, with the other boys and girls, learned to match pitches and to sing many interesting songs, among them at least two in each key to be used later to introduce the syllables. In the second or third grade he learned these syllables as a new verse to these songs and by observation came to know what a staff is, and the name of the sign in the beginning of the song, and how to find the key from the placement of the sharps and flats. He was already learning to read music, and he and his classmates practiced reading simple songs in all the keys up to and including four sharps and flats, until it became comparatively easy. Then sometimes in the third or fourth grade he was introduced to the divided beat, and had to learn to sing between beats. This was a critical time. It was so hard to keep from pointing every time he sang a note. But his future success in reading music depended upon counting evenly the correct number of beats in a measure and singing the notes where they belonged in relation to these beats. This was followed by two part songs, and then three part songs, together with more difficult one part songs, until by the time he entered high school, he should have been able to read at sight, easy two, three, and four part songs, and difficult one part songs. If he had such a foundation, learning an instrument, even after entering high school would not be too much of a task, but would require regular systematic practice, and, in most cases, private instruction.

It is unfortunate that this boy did not get the urge while in grade school to play in a band. We do not have bands in all of our grade schools, but we do have orchestras, and we have trumpets in them. The importance of getting an early start on anything that requires skill can not be too strongly emphasized. Muscles and mind are plastic and train rapidly when we are young. One can build a good technique in half the time that it would take later on, and of course there comes a time when it is too late. That's the reason we have discontinued the teaching of harmony and appreciation as separate subjects in our local high school. The ideal plan would be to have theory and practice go hand in hand. If we had a music major course in our high school that might be possible. But with our present curriculum we have found that theory has a tendency to crowd out participation in chorus, orchestra, and band. Theory can be earned just as well or better later on; but this is not true of acquiring an adequate technique. Where there must be a choice it should be, at the public school age, in favor of technique, and participation.

These grade school orchestras serve, then, as the incentive to get boys and girls started and keep them playing band and orchestra instruments. In some school systems every boy and girl in the fourth grade learns to play some instrument such as a "Saxette," and the best performers are advised to take up the study of some one or another band or orchestra instrument. In our local schools we use only the regular band and orchestra instruments, and encourage and help only those who can get the use of an instrument, and who show an interest in joining the orchestra or band. There are many different plans in use throughout the country but the purpose of them all is, not to replace the private teacher, but rather to provide the incentive that is so necessary these days. There was a time when one would gladly spend a couple years on scales and arpeggios and trills and preparatory studies before he expected or attempted solo or orchestra work. But those days are pretty generally past. At almost the first lesson now the student wants to learn to play a tune and unless there is the possibility of soon playing in a band or orchestra, one or another of the interests of the "gang" may soon crowd out the music lesson.

Instrument makers realized this many years ago and so they organized the school band contests, which were soon taken over by the school music teachers, and expanded to include orchestra, chorus, ensemble, and solo contests, and festivals of all kinds. The story of the rapid growth of this movement, both in respect to the numbers of participants and of the proficiency attained, is simply amazing. A boy or girl may hear a fine symphonic band or orchestra or a nationally known soloist and dismiss it with the thought that, "Oh, well! some day I'll be able to do that too." But when he finds either through competition, or by participation in a select organization, that boys and girls his own age can and are doing these things he says to himself, "Well if they can do that, I can too." Then again, one can play along in a large organization, not contributing too much, but not really doing his full part. But if he elects to represent his school as soloist, or as a member of an ensemble, or as a member of a district or all-state organization, he knows that he must go to work. And music like everything else seems to move in cycles. At first interest is keen. Then comes a long tedious period during which one can't help but feel that he is losing ground rather than making progress. Many quit at this stage of the game. But if one keeps on working, there comes a time when everything just seems to come his way. The contests and festivals help furnish the incentive to get over this tedious period of acquiring an adequate technique.

Now if we stop to analyze, we will find that back of these means of motivation is the interest of appreciative friends. One can get a great deal of pleasure from his own music; much more than does the athlete, or most anyone else, from his own isolated efforts. But there would be fine musicians such as we have today, and the general level of music would be low indeed, if there were no audience to perform for. One seems to outdo himself before an appreciative audience. And it is the importance one can feel from winning a solo contest, or belonging to a winning team, or band, or orchestra, or chorus, that makes him go on trying, and trying, and trying. What is it that makes boys and girls feel that the thing they are doing is important? Why the interest which people show when they turn out for a performance. So often we feel that when we have bought a ticket to see some one, part, what really counts is not the money, but the audience. We hear talk now and then about juvenile delinquency. Is this something that just happens? We know that boys and girls will be doing something. What they will be doing will depend largely upon the kind of activities we consider important enough to support. Keep the boys and girls of a community busy doing worth while things and they will have neither the time nor the inclination to get into trouble. It is not enough to make it possible for youth to have worth while activities. If we want participation in these activities we must support them.

The armament industry in India has increased its output from nine to 27 times that of the prewar period. Gun ammunition production is 27 times greater; bayonet, 17 times; light machine guns, 12 times; rifles 10 times; guns and carriages, nine times, and small arms ammunition, four times.

Yanks Pushing Toward Three French Centers

By LEE CARSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

AN ADVANCED LANDING FIELD IN BRITAIN, July 13.—The American First Army punched ahead all along the Normandy front today toward the three enemy communication centers of Lessay, Periers and St. Lo.

The Yanks troops hacked open a broad corridor through heavy German defenses across the base of the Cherbourg peninsula and guarding Lessay.

The Germans apparently have withdrawn their tanks and artillery units from this sector. American pilots returning to this flying base disclosed, but they have thrown in reinforced and well-equipped infantry in an attempt to stem the American advance.

When Allied forces swarmed over German resistance on the western half of the peninsula they were unable to dislodge Nazi infantry from the Dessaints area east of Periers.

Bad Weather

As the American swung down on a wide front against Lessay despite the fact that bad weather crumbled the wings of aerial support, other ground forces hooked a long scythe around Periers from the northeast.

The great jaw of steel crushed down on the Germans in the St. Lo area with a general American advance all along the line from the Carentan area to Caumont.

East of St. Lo, American infantry supported by tanks and a heavy artillery barrage closed in against the town from three separate jump-off points.

Canadian and British troops at Caen, reconnaissance pilots said, fought off a ferocious German attempt to push them out. Under gray skies heavy with rain, the city rocked under the impact of Nazi rocket shells fired in from the east. The British, however, held firmly to their positions within Caen and along the river Orne.

BURMESE PEOPLE TIRED OF JAPS

Barbarous Treatment Accorded
Burmeses Women And Atrocities Causes Hatred

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—(INS)—A Burmese official in Los Angeles on a brief visit declared today that Japanese atrocities and racial superiority complex had killed their opportunity for an oriental "new order," and said that the Burmese people were 17,000,000 to 1,000 against collaboration.

Kyaw Min, one of three secretaries heading the reconstruction department of the Burmese government-in-exile, said that "when the Japs marched into our country, their raping of women, which was condoned by their officers, was so widespread as to seem part of their policy of conquest."

Looting of villages was widespread, he reported, and the arrogant attitude of racial superiority clinched the feeling of alienation. "Because one of our officials did not call upon three Japanese soldiers who had come to a village, they issued an order that the lowest Jap soldier was superior to the highest Burmese civilian," Min related.

Senior Girl Scouts End Week Of Camp

'Service' Work Continued Along
With Swimming And Games;
Parents Come To Tureen
Dinner

Returning with heavy coats of sun tan, ten girls and three counselors of troop 27, senior service scouts, have completed a week's camping at a cottage near East Brook.

Besides swimming twice a day and giving much time to sports in the evenings when the temperature was lower, the scouts worked on a Red Cross sewing project, making slippers for soldiers, in connection with their senior service work.

During the mornings, the older service scouts trained the newer girls in the troop as part of their leadership training. M. S. B. 11 games, badminton, boating, and hiking all went toward the sports badges most of the girls are working for.

Campfires were held several evenings during the week, including Sunday, when parents had been invited out for a tureen supper.

The sewing project was in accordance with the requirement that senior scouts give a certain number of hours in some sort of service. Many of the girls give as many as eight hours a week in the hospitals, assisting the nurses.

Counselors for the week were Miss Helene Edgar, Miss Jean Watkins, and Miss Nancy McKee.

Guard, Recruiter States

For the first time since voluntary enlistments in the United States Coast Guard were halted over a year ago, an opportunity is open for enlistment of 17-year-old youths, U. S. Coast Guard officials announce.

Applicants of the prescribed age will be accepted as steward's mates, 3-c, and will be given basic training at the Coast Guard Training Station, Curtis Bay, Md., located just outside the city of Baltimore. Men trained as steward's mates are urgently needed at the present time by Coast Guards units now on active duty ashore and afloat. Aboard ship these men are often assigned to gun crews or other important general quarters stations. Anyone interested may obtain additional information at the Coast Guard Recruiting Office, Room 1212 Park Building, Pittsburgh.

Deny Censoring Of Political News To Soldiers Overseas

NEW YORK, July 13.—(INS)—Inferences that the army is censoring political news sent to service papers overseas was denied flatly today by the officers and men who comprise the staff of the Army News Service in New York City.

Answering criticism published in a London newspaper dispatch, Col. Franklin S. Forsberg, director of the ANS, blamed most of the difficulty on transmission delays and added that possibly over-zealous wielding of shears and pencil on the receiving end might be a contributing factor.

The London paper claimed that the London edition of "Stars and Stripes" printed President Roosevelt's fourth term announcement without comment, while comment by Thomas E. Dewey and Wendell L. Willkie had been cut. Forsberg said a check showed that faulty transmission delayed the Roosevelt dispatch, and that at that time neither Dewey nor Willkie had made substantial comment.

Chicago Men Prove Good Nurses' Aids

CHICAGO, July 13.—(INS)—The first use of men as nurses' aids at Presbyterian hospital was pronounced a success today despite their vulnerability to obvious wisecracks.

The pioneering group was made up of 28 men who ordinarily are concerned with slaughtering and packing pigs and cattle.

The volunteers are Edward F. Wilson, president of Wilson & Co. and a member of the hospital board of managers, 21 Wilson employees and four men from other meat packing companies.

The patients pronounced themselves satisfied with the results, although there was much ribbing.

Most vulnerable to this line of humor was Dr. Harry Kingman, a Wilson veterinarian.

Monetary Experts Await Reply From Russia On Gold

Russia Favors Reduced Gold Quota Owing To Devastation Of War

BREITON WOODS, N. H., July 13.—INS.—The United States awaited a reply from Russia today regarding its final position on the question of gold quota contributions to the eight and a half billion dollar stabilization fund proposed by the United Nations monetary conference.

Final agreement on the establishment of the fund was reported delayed by the Soviet Union's demand that its contribution, as well as that from other countries which have suffered war devastation, be reduced by as much as 25 to 50 per cent.

The United States was pictured, however, as standing firm against any proposal from any nation to reduce gold quota percentages which have been set up for the 44 United and associated nations represented at the conference.

This government wants each nation to contribute in gold either 25 per cent of its quota or 10 per cent of its official gold holdings, whichever is smaller.

Quits After Hour; No Future In Job

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 13.—If brewing were an essential industry it might stump War Manpower Commission Experts to know whether or not to issue a release to a man who went to work for a brewing company, who said the job lacked a future, and quit an hour later.

Sent by the U. S. Employment Service to the brewing company, the man reported for work, drew himself a long schooner of beer, and then several more, before approaching the foreman and saying, "I don't think I'm going to like this job. There is no future in it. You better give me my money and I'll quit now."

LOCAL GIRLS HOME FROM FELLOWSHIP

Two New Castleites, Marilyn Reeves of Garfield avenue and Maria Ballard of Reis street, have returned to their homes after a period spent at the Summer Institute of Methodist Youth Fellowship, Allegheny College.

Coal Contract Let For Schools

Other Action Taken At Meeting Of City School Board Wednesday Night

Maxwell and Gibson received the contract for the coal for New Castle schools for the coming school year when on Wednesday night July 12 the school board awarded the contract for 4000 tons or what part of that amount is needed. Maxwell and Gibson submitted the only bid and this on three types of coal. For 2 inch coal, $6.40 per ton. (No two inch is available and four inch will be substituted). For nut $6.25 per ton. For nut slack, $6.15 per ton.

The board also awarded contracts for some equipment. Science supplies for the high schools went to various companies for a total of $894.63. Health equipment in the amount of $1454 is to be purchased from the Sporting Goods company. Vocational electrical equipment was divided between two companies. Westinghouse getting $154.14 of it and Graybar Electric $17.17. Elliott and Waddington got the contract for testing equipment for the vocational classes at their bid of $175.

The contract for rebinding some 900 text books went to the Acme Bindery of Buffalo, N. Y., at its price of $675. The books to be bound are from Mahoning, Washington Franklin, and Senior high school.

Instead of awarding a contract for the installation of glass block in the George Washington junior high school, the board decided to purchase the block and hire a bricklayer to lay it up.

Bills in the amount of $7,134.91 for goods and services for the past month were ordered paid.

Service Star, No. 176 Breakfasts At Park

Service Star Legion, Inc., Chapter 176 held a breakfast outing in the grove of Cascade Park on Wednesday morning, at 8:30 o'clock. An appetizing menu was enjoyed at the sheltered tables and the time following was spent in an informal social manner.

Committee in charge composed of Mesdames Lillian Davis, Beatrice McNicholas, Rebecca McKissick and Jessie McCann.

Members will have initiation of new candidates at their meeting slated for Friday, July 21 in the Legion Home. Plans will also be completed for the chapter's annual picnic.

Our Post-war Plans for G. I. Joe...

in a series of ads on post-war opportunities

When it's over "over there," G. I. Joe will come home to a wave of gratitude such as this country never saw. And he's earned every bit of it—and more.

But gratitude won't buy groceries—G. I. Joe wants to go to work. He's got to have a job—and a chance to grow into still better jobs. We are going to do our part in the great task of providing these opportunities.

The day after Pearl Harbor, Esso Marketers adopted a plan of wartime benefits and job protection for our people in uniform. We published its main points here recently. We now want to tell you about two plans for taking returning servicemen into our organization. Here are their main points.

PLAN ONE covers our own employees as they come back:

1. Assurance to each man of his old job or another as good or better.
2. Review of changes in the man and in the business since he went away to be sure he gets the best job for him now.
3. Recognition of the development of men during the war, by providing better jobs than they left, either at once or as soon as possible.
4. Provisions in the case of a man not physically up to his old job for finding one he can do, temporarily or permanently as soon as possible.

PLAN TWO aims to take as many new people as possible from the armed services into our business. Post-war petroleum will need more people. Wartime experience will equip many men for this business. Here is our plan for these men:

1. Careful analysis of the man's abilities as they can best fit our business on the basis of a real career for him.
2. Special training with pay to prepare the man for prompt assignment to a definite job on a regular basis.
3. This also means full participation in old-age pension, disability, savings plan, and other individual job-security benefits which our employees share.
4. Opportunities for further training to prepare for advancement on a basis of proved ability.

Global War Is Beyond Belief

Immensity Of War Is Hard For Average Mind To Conceive

AT LEAST SEVEN MAJOR WARFRONTS

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIG
Written Especially for N. S.

Napoleon coined the term "global war" more than 100 years ago, but it remained for the twentieth century that has done so many things on an unprecedented scale to witness a conflict that really has penetrated to every corner of the world's seven seas and five continents.

The facts concerning the present armageddon-battle of the nations are so staggering in their implications and the figures so astronomical in character that it is difficult for the average citizen to conceive even the nature of the process that is taking place.

Greatest of All History
The present war is not only immeasurably the greatest military project that the world has ever seen, but also the greatest undertaking in history in the fields of manufacturing, engineering, transportation and finance.

On the United Nations side of the battle-lines there are seven national and international fronts where major groups of armies, air forces or naval fleets are fighting. Each of these has its own supply-lines and maintenance organizations.

Beside these conventional geographical fronts, familiar to students of war from time immemorial, there are three additional fronts of a less tangible but no less important nature. These are, first, the air front above the war, second, the underground front, under the war, and third, most important of all, the industrial-financial front, behind the war.

U. S. Strategic Key
Strategic key in the industrial-financial front in this unparalleled

global conflict is the United States. It has been estimated that half the weapons, two-thirds of the food and raw materials used by the United Nations forces have originated in this country. Without these there could have been no hope of Allied triumph.

In the air front above the war, the contribution of the United States has been almost equally outstanding. American bombers and fighting planes based on Britain now exceed in numbers and capacity those of the British Royal Air Force. In Russia, Italy, India and the Pacific, American planes darken the skies.

Outstanding in size among the conventional land fronts is that of Russia, where an estimated five million Red Army troops are driving nearly as many Nazis back towards the Baltic and Berlin. Next in size is the British-French amphibious theatre with an estimated three million Allied troops.

13,000,000 Anti-Nazi Troops
Added to an estimated two million Chinese troops, about 1,500,000 Allied troops in India and considerable numbers in the Italian, South Pacific and Central Pacific theatres, this brings the total anti-Nazi forces in the field up to about 13,000,000.

Behind and below all this is the underground front. According to reports there are at least a million of these in France, a similar number in Poland and lesser underground armies in Norway, Denmark, Yugoslavia and Greece. If Napoleon could see this war it would give him a lot of new ideas on what a really total global conflict could add up to.

Statements and opinions herein are private to the writer and are not to be construed as reflecting the views of the Navy Dept.

SHOE SHINE BOYS BEING ROUNDED UP

NEW YORK—(INS)—New York police are rounding up shoe shine boys in the Times Square area. Thirty-five were "arrested" in one day. Parents were warned that the soliciting of business from pedestrians in the theatrical district must stop. Servicemen are the particular targets of the boys, who prefer them because they tip liberally.

Fantastic World After War Ends Is Plain Bunk

WASHINGTON, July 13—(INS)—Dr. Charles F. Kettering, famed inventor and General Motors research scientist, debunked today the pictures of a fantastic "new world" in the immediate postwar years.

"There will be precious little benefit to civilians growing out of the war production," he said. "The developments have been made in military implements. Even they are not new. We've been too busy to work on peacetime products."

Kettering, in Washington for a meeting of the inventors' council which has devoted itself 100 percent to the needs of the Army and Navy, said the first flow of civilian goods after the war will be pre-war models. That applies to automobiles and other products, he said.

Made Robot Bomber
The 68-year-old inventive genius, who made the first robot bomber 25 years ago, said the picture of startlingly new post-war products were largely the creation of over-zealous, imaginative "ad writers" who "have nothing else to do."

"We had air-conditioned beds more than 10 years ago at the Chicago World's Fair, but nobody wanted them," he said.

To make airplanes popular for civilians, the industry must develop a four-passenger plane with a cruising speed of around 120 miles an hour and with plenty of room for baggage to sell at the price of a Cadillac, he said. Kettering said the high cost of plane engines and radio equipment represented the chief difficulty.

'King Of Hoboes' Fears Women Freight Crews
PITTSBURGH, July 13—(INS)—Jeff Davis, "King of the Hoboes," arrived in Pittsburgh all out of breath.

On his way over from New York he ran into bad news for all hoboes—women "shacks" or brakemen. In Altoona a new train crew took over. In all his 30 years of traveling America's railroads, Jeff had never seen brakemen like these. They were women in natty uniforms and efficient—but women. For the time being at least they'll work only on passenger trains.

"But if they make good," lamented Jeff, "next thing we know they'll be riding freights. And what are you going to do if a female shack takes after you with a rolling pin?"

The "King" who travels Pullman, paying his fare these days because the hobo high command has ordered all the b.o.s off the rods for the duration, has been selling war bonds for the last two years. Last year he sold $10,000,000 worth.

Boy Scout Board To Meet At Camp
Members of the Lawrence county Boy Scout executive board will meet at the Lawrence county camp on Thursday evening, July 20, Scout Executive Thomas Allen said today.

After dinner in the camp dining hall, the board members will hold a business meeting at the camp.

Wednesday evening the regular campers in the large barn on the camp site. The schedule of activities for the second week is going much the same as for the first week, Mr. Allen said.

EDENBURG
ATTENDING INSTITUTE
Misses Eleanor Usellon, Mary Lou Mayberry and Joan Leeper of the Methodist junior church group, are attending institute this week at Meadville. Rev. E. F. Spring, pastor of the Methodist church, is also attending sessions this week. Jeanne Haggis and Norma Rodgers attended the senior group last week, returning home Sunday evening.

W. S. C. S. MEETING
The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church met in the church Wednesday evening, with Mrs. Ada Hoover and Mrs. Charles Hoover as hostesses.

The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Roy Raub. Mrs. Paul Roberts, devotional leader, also conducted a discussion of the last chapter of the study book, "Ministering to All Americans."

Mrs. Roy Unangst was assisted by a group of women in presenting a program on "Medical Work in Africa." She read a poem, "The Lord Has a Job for You."

Plans were made for a thirteen dinner on the church lawn Wednesday, August 2, at 12:30 o'clock. Mrs. Charles Louden, Mrs. Alton Nofsker and Mrs. Unangst are in charge of arrangements.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, aided by Mrs. Walter List, Mrs. Raub and Miss Alice Hoover.

Casualties Of Germans High

Correspondent Gives Grim
Picture Of Fate Of Nazis
In France

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

LA HAYE DU PUIT, France, Wednesday Night, July 12.—Delayed—The Americans are doing the grim job of killing Germans with such efficiency that they are keeping grave diggers busy from dawn until sunset.

This evening this correspondent watched men complete many graves on the Normandy sector, each oblong plot containing one extinct Hitler soldier.

Half an hour later another three trucks drove in to the sloping tree-lined meadow with more bodies. This goes on unceasingly, with trucks arriving faster as the battle grows hotter.

The capacity of this particular ground space is estimated at a few thousands and apparently will be filled although the bodies brought here consist only of those picked up on the fields and taken out of pill-boxes within a convenient radius and German wounded who died in hospitals.

Hundreds remain unburied or are buried elsewhere, while the Germans make it a practice to remove as many of their dead as possible to hide heavy losses.

Takes Look At Holocaust

I decided to take a look at the holocaust of war to get visual evidence that the Yanks are killing sufficient numbers of Germans to bite heavily into the enemy manpower and strength.

On the immediate front and around rear combat areas, we know that the enemy is suffering very heavy casualties, probably three or four to one of ours. But Norman-gy's "green hell" hides any mass evidence.

Yes, today I watched Yank artillery blast a way open along the highway south of La Haye, our infantry beating the bush and slaughtering German nests for broad stretches on each side of the road. Our batteries spanned murderous fire into enemy positions. Repeatedly they "serenaded" their targets, which is the Yank way of saying they laid down massive barrages.

On the other hand, the Germans scattered the La Haye road only intermittently with shellfire two miles out of La Haye where we sat out the fire of 88's in German foxholes.

Terrific Fire Power

I saw German dead here and there, but it seemed to me the terrific fire power was increasingly loose, plus the rapid deaths dealt out by enraged doughboys, ought to offer sort of conclusive proof of the heavy toll we are exacting from the enemy.

A GI truck, with a dozen bodies stacked inside, drove several miles through the hamlet of Oze, laid out in the tree-surrounded meadow. I glimpsed the long rows of white crosses in neat rows.

In a field farther down men and troops swung spades and lifted bodies into the graves, rapidly covering tracks to lessen the stench.

Casualty registration officers quickly took the fingerprints of each one to help in identification and passed it on. Wherever possible the full name and identity will be painted on the white cross.

Ages of these dead ranged from as low as 14 and 15 to above 45. There is no time wasted in sympathy or tears, for these are soldiers who kill American boys and among these undoubtedly are some who participated in the ruthless killing of helpless airborne troops caught in trees on D-day.

Martin Outlines Postwar Plans

Governor Speaks In Scranton, Tells
What State Must Do Following War

SCRANTON, Pa., July 13.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin declared today that the postwar period "will require patience, hard work, willingness to face disappointments, toil, sweat and sacrifice" and then outlined a nine-point improvement program.

Speaking at a luncheon meeting following the second "home town" cabinet meeting at Scranton, the chief executive called for liquidation of the national debt, the "siphoning out" of needless governmental jobs and the creation of jobs for servicemen by private enterprise.

Governor Martin called for a "spiritual awakening" through the cooperation of Pennsylvania's 13,000 churches and equal educational opportunities for children regardless of race, color or creed.

Steady Employment

The governor also urged conservation of natural resources, steady employment for workers at wages permitting them to save, scientifically developed institutions for mental cases and penal offenders, public road and aeronautics programs, a plan to coordinate disaster-relief program of state, local and national agencies, the teaching of Americanism in public institutions and equitable taxation.

"Returning veterans must be hospitalized, rehabilitated and educated," he said. "They must be given jobs. The men and women in war industry must be reemployed. Job creation is the responsibility of private enterprise. It is not the responsibility of the government," he added.

"We can help mightily by more work, more sacrifice and less talk and less griping." He emphasized in pointing out that the war was near its crisis. "The only American who has a right to gripe is the American fighting men," he concluded.

During the Aleutian campaign elements of the U. S. 11th Air Force dropped 6,773,076 pounds of Army ordinance bombs on the enemy and used Army ordinance machine guns and cannon to shoot down 65 enemy fighters and bombers, to destroy 22 enemy fighters on the ground or afloat, to sink 15 enemy vessels and to damage 13 enemy vessels.

4-Minute Mile Appears Likely

Daniel Ferris, Veteran
Track Man Says 4-Minute
Mile Is Almost Certainty

CITES CASE OF GUNDER HAGG

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, July 13.—The 4-minute mile, long the dream of track and field enthusiasts, is a certainty according to no less an authority than the boss of the AAU, silver-tatched Dan Ferris, who is Mr. Track and Field himself, and the last word in such matters.
Back in the days when 4:25 was great time for a mile, the optimistic Ferris was enthusiastically predicting that he would like to see somebody cover the eight furlongs in four minutes.
Dan hopes that the four-minute man would be an American but now he is inclined to believe it may be a Swede. He bases that belief, of course, on the performance of Gunder Hagg, who set a new world record for the 1500 meters at Gothenburg the other day. Gunder ran the metric equivalent of the mile in 3:43, two full seconds better than the old mark. Arne Andersson, former title holder, clipped a second off his best previous mark, but still finished a few yards behind his rival.

Must Be In Air
Dan believed there is something in the air over there that makes the boys run faster and longer. "There tracks are no better than ours," says Dan, "so it must be the climate. I am sure of this because those fellows never run quite as well over here as they do over there and our boys run much faster there than they do here. I'm inclined to believe that anybody can run a mile from one to three seconds faster in Sweden than he can in the United States!"
Dan offers some figures to back up his contention that a four-minute mile is entirely feasible. "Figure it out for yourself," he suggested. "When Hagg did that 1500 in 3:43 he was travelling at the rate of 7.35 yards a second."

Can Be Done
At that speed he would have covered the remaining distance—120 yards—to round out the mile in 16.3 seconds. That would have given him a mile in 3:59.3. I wish he'd done it, so we could concentrate on the 7-foot high jumper and 16-foot pole vaulters who are sure to see one of these days."

Dan is firmly convinced that our own Bill Hulse or Gill Dodd could come close to the magic time on their best days if given a shot under perfect conditions in Sweden.
Hulse has hoisted the mile in 4:06 and Dodd in 4:06.1 over here. They wouldn't have to improve as much as you might think to come close to four-flat if running in the bracing atmosphere of the Vikings.

Race Track Take
Reaches Million
CAMDEN, N. J., July 13.—(INS)—Garden State Park race track, in Camden's outskirts, chalked up its first million-dollar day today after a surprise week-end crowd of 12,327 poured $1,091,571 into the mutual machines.
A record $996.50 daily double for the meeting was also set when Santa Candida ($13.50) won the first race and Miss Economy ($92) took the second.

Set. C. E. Johnson recently scored a record of 40 consecutive bullseyes with an Army Ordnance carbine at Camp Adair, Ore.

Second Half Is Started By League

Sylvan Heights Golf League Opens
Second Half Schedule On Wednesday Evening

Play in the second half of the Sylvan Heights Golf League schedule started Wednesday evening, with Shelby Socials getting off to a good start by defeating United Engineers and Foundry Office by a score of 4-2, while New Castle Moose champions during the first half, splitting with Siegetowns, 3-3. Spaulding A.C. and Universal Sanitary split 2-2, with one of their matches to be played off Friday.

Marty Segedi, of Shelby Socials was medalist with a 36, while Stan Bukowski, Turner Lombardo, Fred Lombardo and Mike Lombardo, along with Frank Summers, scored 39's.

Rain held up play for some time, and fell intermittently during the matches.

Bettina Arrives In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—(INS)—Corp. Melia Bettina resumed his training in Pittsburgh today following his arrival for a 10-round bout Tuesday night with Curtis "Hatchet Man" Sheppard in the featured event at Forbes Field.

The Bureau of Military Police said he anticipates no trouble in the coming battle, explaining, "I wasn't in shape in the last two bouts, but I trained real hard for this one and Mr. Hatchet Man is going to know it Tuesday. They tell me he hits like a mule, but I've fought punchers before and I think I know the answer to Mr. Sheppard's power blows."

Munger Turns Down All-Star Coaching

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—(INS)—George Munger, coach of the University of Pennsylvania football team, announced today that he has declined an offer of a coaching position with the college all-stars football team which will play in Chicago in August.

Munger said he turned down the job because his team starts its pre-season drills this afternoon, and will continue until too late for him to report in the mid-west.

NEW CASTLE NEWS SPORTS

PUBLIC LINKERS WILL PLAY HERE

Sylvan Heights League To Sponsor
Invitation Tourney For District Golfers

Sylvan Heights Golf League players at a meeting held Wednesday evening in the Sylvan Heights clubhouse, took action to revive the Western-Eastern Ohio Public Links invitational golf tournament, after a year's layoff due to the war.
The tournament will take place at Sylvan Heights course on August 13, and will be a 36-hole medal play event. War bonds, stamps, and other prizes totalling $300 will be given, with a cup to the champion.
The committee expects star public links players from this district and Eastern Ohio to participate.
President Frank Summers, of the Sylvan Heights League, expects to name his committees on arrangements for the event within the next few days. Andy Swedko, of Pittsburgh, is the defending champion, having won the last tournament staged in 1942.

CAMPFIRE CORNER

By JACK WELCH

Black bass fishing season opened rather late in the north—June 21—but there was a good reason for it. The fish hadn't finished spawning until about that time. During some unusually cold seasons they hardly begin housekeeping before they face the perils of plug, bug and various live baits.
June 21 this year dawned here in sunny brilliance, then turned cloudy, but there was no rain despite a barometer reading of 29.2, which had been the average for several days.

Bass Lake
The breeze was westerly and there was a satisfactory ripple on the lake. When trout season had opened in May I and I'd done plenty of northern pike and wall-eye fishing with fair success, I'd looked forward with considerable impatience to a bout with the big-mouths. In the first place the lake upon which I'm situated is primarily a bass lake, in the second place, bass from these northern waters are mighty good eating, and finally, I like bass fishing. So I was up not far behind the whitethroats that helped awaken me.

Little Done
Fly or plug? There's little fly fishing for bass done in this region, so one of these days I'm going to surprise the natives with my proficiency. I'm pretty much on the minus side as a fly fisherman in fast company but among those who know little of it I can pose as a passably proficient exponent of the art. I finally decided on bait casting, and hid away to one of the areas I'd already selected as promising. I looped on my favorite wobbler, orange dotted with black and red. No results on 20 casts and then, just ready to move to a better hole, I connected with a three-pounder.

Hit At 2 P. M.
I continued casting for several hours, but my lure hooked nothing but small fish. I kept two of the largest and knocked off for lunch. In the heat of the afternoon, about 2 o'clock, at a time when bass are notoriously scarce in shallow waters, they really began to hit—the bigger ones. I mean, no record fish, but two and three pounders, and they were smashing at my lure close in to shore, among lily pads and underwater weeds. I went back for the missus and she, too, enjoyed good fishing for a couple of hours. Then evening was closing in and my well-trained bass are supposed to break one another's necks grabbing at lures, they stopped biting, and I mean stopped. Bass are temperamental and don't abide by rules.
Two of the larger fish we caught were females, containing roe.

NEWS FOR MOTORISTS
PITTSBURGH (INS)—Here's good news for those motorists who find the changing of license plates an ordeal of bruised fingers, rusted bolts and bad temper. The Aluminum company of America has announced that an accumulated surplus of aluminum beyond our war needs, may mean that post-war automobiles may be equipped with aluminum license plates, which are non-rusting and weather-proof.

The French are believed to have been the first to use the balloon in warfare.

DICK CALLAHAN, NO-HIT HURLER

BOSTON, July 11.—The war manpower situation has given many youngsters a chance in the professional baseball league, but none has entered the game with a better background than has Dick Callahan, for whose signature the Boston Red Sox recently paid $15,000, the largest bonus ever received by a high school player for signing with a big league team.
Callahan, 19, gained national fame this past spring by pitching two no-hit, no-run games and a one-hit contest for New Orleans' Holy Cross prep school team. He hurled Holy Cross to three straight city titles, and to Louisiana state championships in 1942 and 1944.
He played junior American Legion ball during the summers, too, and three years ago pitched his team to city, state, and regional titles.

DICK CALLAHAN

Six feet one inch tall and weighing 185 pounds, Callahan is a right-handed pitcher and bats the same way. Like most pitchers, he is proud of his hitting, and admits to batting in the cleanup position for Holy Cross where he amassed an average of over .300.
Young Callahan is the eldest of five children and was graduated from high school this year. His schooling, however, was interrupted by a nine-month hitch in the U. S. Navy, from which he received a medical discharge last February. He hopes eventually to go to college and become an electrical engineer.
His pitching equipment consists of a fast ball, curve, and a beautiful slow ball.
Of Irish descent, Dick is expected to prove a big drawing card among Boston's Irish population before many months have elapsed.

Church Golfers Battle Tonight

New Castle church golf league comes to the end of the first half of the 1944 league season tonight at the Castle Hills golf course with the playing of four matches. The players will tee-off not later than 6:30 o'clock.
The First Presbyterians have a tough row to hoe tonight if they are to win the first half, as they are but two points in front of the Harbor and have to play the "red-hot" Mahoning team. Harbor battles the First U. P. and expect to take the match.

Some keen matches will be fought this evening over the Castle Hills fairways and on the greens. The other matches will be as follows: First Baptists vs. First Christians and Epworth vs. Highland.
The league season will close with a tournament on August 13.

Moose-Bronze Play At 5:45 P. M.

Rain caused the Moose-Johnson Bronze game scheduled for last night to be forced back to 5:45 p. m. today at Lee avenue. Manager Mike Duffley may use Pitcher Rainey. Manager Fitz Rodenbaugh said he would not announce his pitcher until shortly before the game.

The Johnson Bronze won the first of a three-game series at Marshall field in a free-hitting game Sunday. Should they capture today's game they will have won the first half championship.

Both are City Baseball league teams.
The second half is scheduled to begin July 18.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

A 25-year-old rookie who never pitched a game of professional baseball until this year, and one of the principal reasons why Hartford is racing to a pennant in the Eastern League.

Southpaw Warren Mueller won 12 of his first 13 games for Del Bissonette's Hartford entry and bids fair to be circuit's No. 1 hurler when the year's books are closed.

Mueller, who comes from Staten Island, graduated from high school at 17 and was married a month later on his eighteenth birthday. As early as 1938 he was offered a contract by Spencer Abbott, then managing Trenton of the Inter-State League. But the financial terms didn't satisfy Mueller, and he struck to his job driving a truck and picking up side money by hurling semipro ball.

Again in 1940 he got a bid from a farm club of the Brooklyn Dodgers and again turned it down.

Early this year, Mueller was recommended to Bissonette by an old friend and the two got together on terms.

"We wouldn't be leading the league without him," beams Skipper Bissonette. "We took a long gamble starting out a fellow who was 25 years old, but it was one of those good breaks a ball club gets now and then."

Hartford is a proving ground for the Boston Braves.

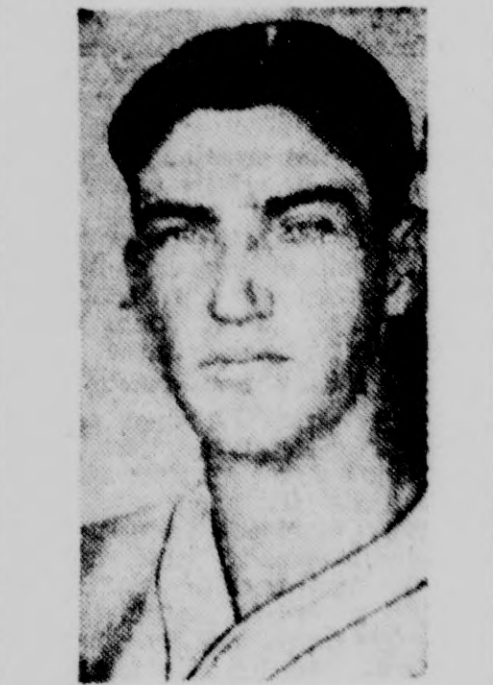

Thirteen years ago, the late Bob Allen, a landmark in Southern League baseball and operator at Little Rock for years, acquired the Mobile franchise and moved it to Knoxville, turning his Little Rock holdings over to local capital.

Last week, his two sons, Edgar and Robert, took the franchise back to Mobile, transferring it from Knoxville. They had been doing a good business in the Tennessee city, but there was a hitch with the city fathers over rent of the ball park.

The hitch brought Mobile back to Southern League ball after 13 years, and the return was engineered by the sons of the man who moved it away.

Fritz Zivic
Year ago today: Fritz Zivic beats Jake LaMotta before a crowd of 12,000 fans in Pittsburgh.

Schoolboy Rowe
10 years ago today: Schoolboy Rowe fans 11 Yanks at Detroit wins, 4 to 2, the Tigers taking first.
20 years ago today: Harold Osborne wins the decathlon championship at the Olympic Games.

The story of Outfielder Steve Senko of the Marion club of the Ohio State League is the story of a jump from the Merchant Marine to a league-leading slugger. After 14 months on the sea, Steve received a medical discharge after some disastrous upsurges during a voyage. He decided to try his hand at baseball and is now on the first lap of a journey which leads to the parent Boston Red Sox. He's pacing the Ohio loop in batting with a comfortable margin.

A shortage of pipes and a surplus of tobacco during the bombardment of Alexandria in 1832 caused an Egyptian soldier to make the first cigarette.

Rose in Bloom

A ROSE without thorns. She is Frankie Rose, new swimming star in the Midwest. The American Beauty won five championships, a second, a third and swam on three winning relay teams to sweep high point honors for women at the Central A. A. U. tourney in Chicago. (International)

Softball Games Are Called Off

Welcome Rain Calls Halt To Industrial Softball Schedule Wednesday

Old Man Jupiter Pluvius a long-lost cousin here stepped in last night and brought a most welcomed rain to a sun-baked district and consequently no Industrial Softball league games could be played.

The boys didn't mind it much coming to the fact that we haven't had rain for so long a time. The games will be played at a later date.

Twilight Tear Holds Spotlight

Calumet Farms Trainer Ben Jones Says "Twilight Tear Best He Has Trained"

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(International News Service Sports Writer)
CHICAGO, July 13.—It's easy enough for a reporter fellow to go into a gush on practically any given subject. Particularly if the subject happens to be a horse the world talks about as Twilight Tear, and the stable area of Washington Park as "Susie."

But gusto of this nature becomes increasingly difficult if you talk to a plain old paint-leg like trainer Ben Jones.

"Yes, I know," he said plaintively. "We're a generation that wants to holler 'great' as soon as we have the first excuse. But as a trainer of the horse, I can't do that."

Best Ever Trained
"If I didn't, I'd give the impression she was unbeatable and that might cost the public money. But I'll say this much:

I do feel she's the best filly I ever trained. And that's saying a lot."

But isn't she probably the greatest filly that anybody ever trained? No, it seems Ben Jones doesn't want to go so far as to say that. As a matter of fact, he doesn't even want to go so far as to yield to the general tendency at the horse track and call her "Susie."

All of the rest of them do down there, including Owner Warren Wright and the contract riders, but Mr. Jones has ideas of his own and stiffly refuses to conform. He calls her "Miss America," with the formality of an old beau paying his respects to the belle of the ball. You naturally can't do that sort of thing with a horse and call her "Susie."

Run At Arlington
And by his time, they really do know her. So well, indeed, that she'll doubtless go to the post the shortest-priced favorite in the history of the Arlington classic when that great three-year-old stake is run here, July 22. Persive owner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness will be part of the Calumet entry then, but he won't materially affect the odds.

When they bet on the entry, as they will and must and should, that day it'll be because the filly is running, the filly who makes colts look like stumble bumps.

For another thing, Twilight Tear's time for six furlongs (en route) was such as to make almost any horse stop right there. Her time for the intermediate distance was 1:09 3-5!

While the yacht Paradise was anchored off the coast of Portugal, a few years ago, a man named Adam married a woman named Eve aboard the ship.
